British Ministers Consider Reply of Sinn Fein Leaders

Lloyd George Calls Cabinet Meeting For Wednesday Next In Inverness, Scotland; Premier Will Visit King George at Moy Hall.

London, Sept. 2.—Premier Lloyd George has sent the reply of Eamonn de Valera, the "Irish Republican" leader, to his latest communication on the Irish peace proposals to London for circulation among the members of the Cabinet. Having regard for the serious issues involved, Mr. Lloyd George has summoned a Cabinet meeting to be held on Wednesday next at Inverness, Scotland.

King George will be at Moy Hall, near Inverness, and Mr. Lloyd George will visit him there.

Deaths in Belfast.

Belfast, Sept. 2.—James Johnson, aged fourteen, died in a hospital here this morning from wounds received during street fighting here. His death with that of Walter Campbell, who died last night, brought the deathroll of the disorders in Belfast since Monday up to eighteen.

Johnson and Campbell were members of a group of five boys who climbed a wall to watch the shooting. There they became targets of snipers, one of their companions being instantly killed.

There was a curious case of mistaken identity in connection with young Johnson. While he was lying unconscious in the hospital three different families claimed him as a member. One man was so sure the patient was his son that he took Johnson's clothes home with him, only to find his own boy seated by the fireside.

There were several cases of assault in the Falls district of the city this morning, men going to work being attacked. The police otherwise reported the city quiet.

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN BY UNION

Summary of Work Done in 1921 Conveuntion

(By Times Special Correspondent.)

Port Alberni, Sept. 2.—The real work accomplished by the Union of B. C. Municipalities before winding up the sessions of the annual convention, amid wildly hilarious scenes here last night, briefly was as follows:

1.—The Union formed a special taxation committee to consist of the executive and nine delegates to be chosen by it to fight out municipal finance problems with Legislature at the Fall session. Until this committee can meet the Legislature the Union is standing pat on previous demands, which are chiefly that Government assume school costs and hand over such local revenues as amusement tax to municipalities.

2.—It impressed its financial views upon Premier Oliver in no uncertain terms, and gained a better understanding of his attitude, an understanding which will help greatly in solution of difficulties.

3.—Prepared to fight to the last ditch against the B. C. Electric Railway application for Federal charter, a fight which probably will cost up to $20,000 and which may entail services of engineers, legal experts, and a lobby at Ottawa. The Union Executive will arrange details and plan financing of this struggle.

4.—It urged the re-enactment of Public Utilities Act, but left to the Government to decide the form and personnel of controlling body under it.

It prepared to fight high telephone rates if the question is re-opened by the Telephone Company or other body, but decided to leave the matter alone for the present as far as the Union itself is concerned.

6. It backed up Victoria in the fight for legislation permitting church site taxation, and agreed to help Victoria pay costs of recent church case.

7. Impressed the Good Roads League's trans-provincial highway scheme on Mr. Oliver.

8. Remodeled constitution and urged reorganization of Canadian Union of Municipalities so as to make it association of provincial unions, instead of individual cities.

9. Stood solidly behind Parliamentary Agent McDiarmid, and blocked a move supported by Vic-

THINKS JUNKERISM STILL IN EXISTENCE

Minnesota College Professor Visited Germany

London, Sept. 2.—There are many in Germany who think a "trial of military strength" between Great Britain and France is not far distant if they should cease to co-operate, it is declared by John E. Boodin, Professor of Philosophy at Carleton College, Minnesota, in a lengthy interview published in The London Times. Professor Boodin has been visiting Germany.

In his opinion the old spirit of German "kultur" still lives in the educated circles of Germany. He asserts that in conversations with Germans of the university class he found a general hope that there may be in the near future a rupture between Great Britain and France which would enable Germany to deal with France alone.

GEN. WOOD GOVERNOR.

Manila, Sept. 2.—Major-General Leonard Wood to-day announced his acceptance of the post of Governor-General of the Philippines, tendered to him by President Harding.

FIRE LOSSES.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Fire losses in Canada during the week ended August 31 are estimated by The Monetary Times at $369,150, against $224,000 the previous week.

LOWER RAILWAY RATES ON GRAIN

Canadian Roads Wish to Haul American Exports

Montreal, Sept. 2.—It is expected that in a day or two announcement will be made by the Canadian railways of a reduction in grain rates from the prairies to the Atlantic seaboard to meet the reductions authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the United States and recently put into force in an effort to prevent the deflection of so much American grain to the Canadian ocean route.

So strong has been diversion of American grain to the Canadian routes that the American railroads found they were losing a great deal of traffic which they badly wanted. They made application for permission to make a reduction in rates for grain from Chicago to the Atlantic seaboard amounting to 7½ cents a hundred pounds in order to recover this trade.

Their demands were promptly granted and yesterday it was announced that the reduction on export rates for grain would become effective on Saturday, September 3, and remain in effect until the end of the year. The reduction will apply to grain, grain products and by-products, bringing the export rates on grain from Chicago to Baltimore down to 21 cents a hundred pounds.

Immediately following the announcement of this reduction in freight rates on grain on the American railways the Canadian railways took action to see that they did not lose the advantage they already had gained in the way of handling the grain trade.

150 MEN FIGHT FOREST FIRE IN CROW'S NEST AREA

Lethbridge, Sept. 2.—Rain fell again during the night in the Crow's Nest forest zone. No wind is blowing to-day, so that the situation is very considerably improved. About 150 men are now engaged in fighting the fire, and it is believed that the fire can now be held in check without any new damage being done.

RAILWAY CHANGES IN SOUTH AFRICA; LOWER WAGES

London, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press)—A Reuter dispatch from Johannesburg says that in reply to a deputation from the Industrial Federation regarding retrenchment in railway operation, Mr. Jagger, Minister of Railways, declared that the administration proposes to introduce in a short time a 43¾ hour week, with corresponding reductions in wages.

Steamships Are Towing The Importer to Port

Vancouver, Sept. 2.—The steamship Canadian Winner and the salvage vessel Algerine are now assisting the steamship Canadian Observer in towing the Canadian Government Merchant Marine steamship Canadian Importer to port, it was indicated at the local office of the company here to-day. Captain Cooper, of the Observer, which was towing the Importer, reported last night that his line had parted, and in response to a request for assistance the Winner and Algerine have gone to the Observer's aid in bringing the Importer into port.

No word had been received this morning of the missing boat containing eleven men of the Importer's crew but officials of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine here are convinced that the men are safe and will report at some southern port soon.

ZIONIST LEADER.

Carlsbad, Czecho-Slovakia, Sept. 2.—Dr. Nahum Sokolow, chairman of the Zionist World Executive Committee, was elected presiding officer of the International Zionist Congress, in session here to-day.

NO FAMINE AID CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

Nations Have Not Agreed on Russian Work

Paris, Sept. 2.—(Associated Press)—The International Commission for Relief in Russia, created by the Supreme Council to co-ordinate the relief work of all nations, has not been able to bring the countries together in a unified plan of action. When Walter L. Brown, European director of the American Relief Administration, informed the commission that the American organization would not make itself subservient to any central body, hope for international co-operation was diminished.

Inquiry.

Before adjourning last night the commission approved the text of a telegram to Moscow asking permission to send a committee of inquiry to Russia. Pending the outcome of this, the Commission recommends that all the Governments proceed with their relief plans independently.

The Commission further recommends that the Allies send all available medical supplies to Russia.

The committee of inquiry will include representatives of many other countries than those represented on the International Commission. Each nation will be represented by two members, and it is hoped the committee will leave for Russia about September 15.

FIFTY-MILE SWIM IS AMBITION OF YOUNG WOMAN

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Miss Millie Gade, twenty-two, Danish woman swimmer, started on her swim of fifty miles from this city to New York at 9.45 a.m. to-day. She was accompanied by a pilot in a rowboat and a trainer and a nurse in a launch. She expected to reach New York in four days, swimming sixteen hours a day.

HOW SALES TAX SHOULD BE LEVIED

Instructions Issued Affecting Cut Flowers and Ice Cream

Circular letters to collectors of customs, with reference to the three per cent. sales tax, have been issued from the Department of Customs and Excise, affecting both ice cream, and cut flowers.

The full details, for the information of merchants and nurserymen, were received to-day at the office of the Collector of Customs and Excise, and are as follows:

Sales Tax on Ice Cream.

You are advised that on and after May 10 last, sales of ordinary ice cream by manufacturers are subject to sales tax at the rate of 3 per cent., to be computed upon basis of valuation of $1.00 per Imperial gallon.

If so desired, the selling branch of a company may be segregated from the manufacturing department, and sales tax of 3 per cent. would then be payable on the sale of ordinary ice cream from the manufacturing department to the selling branch, to be computed upon the basis of valuation of $1.00 per Imperial gallon.

The sale of ordinary ice cream under the conditions above defined by the selling branch to the public, including retail dealers, is not subject to a further sales tax, in view of the fact, that sales tax of 3 per cent. has already been levied and is collectible thereon.

Cut Flowers and Plants.

1. Cut flowers and plants not included in nursery stock when sold by the producer are subject to sales tax.

2. If cut flowers are made into wreaths, or other designs, the tax is collectible at the rate of 3 per cent. on the price at which sold to retailers or users.

3. Sales from one producer to another producer, or to the

MAY EQUALIZE RATES FOR POOR

Unemployment May Lead to New British Commission

London, Sept. 2.—Demonstrations in which many thousands of London's unemployed participated occurred last night and marked the culminating point of the unrest among the idle which has prevailed here during the past fortnight. Several members of the borough council of Poplar, a section of London, were arrested and lodged in Brixton Prison for refusing to raise the tax rates in accordance with an order from the London County Council. The arrest of the remainder of the Council members, some of them women, was expected to-day.

Doles.

The Woolwich Board of Guardians was asked by a deputation of demonstrators to pay twenty-five shillings a week to each unemployed man and wife, with an additional dole of eight shillings for each child. Demand was also made that rents need not be collected from men out of work.

Several men who had spent Wednesday night in a workhouse in Hackney refused to leave in the morning. They were arrested and later sentenced to a week's imprisonment.

A royal tax commission may be created for the equalization of rates for the relief of the poor.

London, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Without doubt the unemployed in some of the London districts are thoroughly organized by the Communist leaders and there has been little attempt at suppression of the latter by the authorities. How-

FARMERS STATE THEY ARE READY

Say Election Announcement Satisfies Them

Declare People's Decision Will Clear Atmosphere

Toronto, Sept. 2.—"It is in the interests of the people of Canada of all parties and classes that the matter be settled at once," said R. W. Burnaby, president of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, when told of Premier Meighen's announcement of a Federal general election.

"An election has been talked of so long that business has become unsettled and the people are on edge. The ballot will clear the atmosphere and let the country settle down once more to work."

Not Convincing.

J. J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario, said:

"This belated election announcement by Premier Meighen will scarcely convince the electors of the sincerity of the appeal to their popular support."

Alberta Farmers.

Calgary, Sept. 2.—Discussing the holding of a Federal general election this Fall, H. W. Wood, head of the United Farmers of Alberta, said:

"The United Farmers' Association would have much preferred to see an election called at the proper time after proper redistribution, but if the frightened and confused Government can not stand the strain, and is determined to know the worst and have it over with the United Farmers' Associations are ready and will speak in no uncertain terms."

EVACUATION OF SIBERIA BY JAPAN IS PREDICTED

Tokio, Sept. 2.—The Asahi Shimbun, after forecasting the probable success of the conference in Darien between representatives of Japan and the Far Eastern Republic of Siberia, which it declares will inevitably be followed by Japanese evacuation of Siberia, says this will open up the important questions of reinforcing the garrisdn in Korea to cope with Korean malcontents and bandits in Manchuria, and generally to protect the Korean frontier.

TROOPS RESTORING ORDER IN INDIA

Taking Measures Against the Unruly Moplahs

London, Sept. 2.—A Reuter dispatch from Calicut, India, reports that the police stations which had been deserted from Parapanangadi, have returned in large numbers and cut the telegraph lines. British troops have been dispatched to restore order.

More than 5,000 Moplahs are reported to have taken up a position in trenches around the mosque at Titurangadi, whither troops have departed to engage them. The rebels are said to be in possession of a most destructive type of bomb.

Madras Riots.

London, Sept. 2.—The India Office reports that the industrial disputes in the mill area of Madras, stimulated by none-co-operative propaganda, led to disturbances August 29. The police twice were compelled to fire on the mob and six persons were killed and twenty-one wounded. Troops were summoned to assist the police and restored order without further fighting.

"QUEEN VICTORIA."

Next Saturday The Times will commence the publication of Lytton Strachey's "Queen Victoria," a work which British writers describe as one of the most striking biographical productions of this generation. Mr. Strachey was already famous in England as the author of "Eminent Victorians" before "Queen Victoria" was written, but according to the literary supplement of The London Times, his latest work in many respects surpasses the other one. The London Letter to The Bookman regards "Queen Victoria" as "the sensation of the season." Abridged versions of the biography are being published in many newspapers, but The Times prefers to use the whole book, which contains, besides the story of Queen Victoria herself, vivid pen pictures of Melbourne, Peel, Palmerston, Disraeli, Gladstone, and, notably, Prince Albert. An instalment of "Queen Victoria" will be given in The Times every Saturday, following the opening chapter on September 3.

KING WELCOMES ELECTION DECISION

Fundamental Right of People, Says Liberal Leader

Urged Appeal to the Country Some Time Ago

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press)—"I think the Prime Minister should have made his announcement before," declared Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader, in an interview with the Canadian Press. Mr. King's statement was in reference to the announcement of a Federal general election before the end of the year.

"I think we should have had a general election two years ago," Mr. King added. "Ever since I was entrusted with the leadership of the Liberal Party I have consistently advocated the desirability of a general election. I am glad that the Government has at last been compelled to listen to the voice of the people and to concede a fundamental right denied for the last two years."

Meighen in Toronto.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Premier Meighen reached this city this morning with his party, following his momentous announcement last night in London regarding dissolution of Parliament and a general election in Canada before the New Year.

Premier Meighen is to be the guest of honor at a luncheon of the directors of the Canadian National Exhibition here this afternoon. It is not expected, however, that he will make any further political announcement.

It is understood that there will be a conference of the leaders of forces supporting the National Liberal and Conservative Government in Toronto to-night.

NEW MEMBERS OF MEIGHEN CABINET

Reorganization Is Anticipated 1921 Convention

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press)—With the return of Premier Meighen to Ottawa to-morrow, the more serious preparations for the Federal general election will be begun. Much work has to be done. First, stands Cabinet reorganization. Expected some months ago, the reorganization has on several occasions been delayed. But it is expected that Premier Meighen will now take advantage of opportunity and go to the country with a fully reorganized Cabinet. The changes probably will mean the resignations of Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce; Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways; Rt. Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, and Hon. J. A. Calder, President of the Privy Council, with possibly one or two others. Younger men no doubt will be brought in. In this connection the names among others have been mentioned of J. A. Stewart, member for Lanark; Captain Manion, of Fort William, and H. H. Stevens, of Vancouver. It is also possible that Premier Meighen will also seek new blood for his Cabinet outside the present members of Parliament.

Rumors.

The announcement of an election has let loose a flood of rumors. Premier Meighen's emphasis in his London speech on the issue of protection and free trade is taken in some quarters to indicate that a new alignment of the old parties will be sought. Nor would some such an outcome occasion great surprise. The strength of the Meighen party will be directed against the fiscal doctrines of the National Progressives. Such a campaign, it is expected among Government supporters, would secure a large proportion of the protection vote in the East but the campaign is only at its initial stage and none profess to guess where its developments may lead.

A Cabinet meeting has been called for to-day but it is improbable that anything will be handled beyond routine. Several appointments are

Canadian Polling in Late November or Early in December

Announcement of Date Awaited; Four Parties Will Have Candidates In Field For Commons; Some Women Candidates Expected to Appear.

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press)—The date of the Federal general election is expected to be late in November or early in December.

It will be the first general election fought in Canada with four definite parties—Government, Liberal, National Progressive and Labor—in the field.

From present indications, too, there will be representatives of almost every conceivable point of view among the candidates. There will be Independents innumerable, and women candidates, as well as the women's vote, may play a considerable part.

The election, which will result in the summoning of the Fourteenth Parliament of Canada, will be contested on the existing distribution of seats and under the new election law. What the result will be is beyond the most daring of political prophets, except that it is likely to result in the election of powerful groups, with the possible formation of a coalition Government. Recent results in Alberta indicated the powerful grip on the prairie provinces of the National Progressives, and Premier Meighen's speech in London last night is an indication that it is against the anti-protectionist views of the National Progressives that the Government's campaign will be chiefly directed.

Short Campaign.

The campaign will be short but keen. Premier Meighen's announcement of an election before the New Year is taken to indicate that there will be little delay in Cabinet reconstruction and in the issue of writs, with the holding of the election as soon as the necessary official preparations can be made.

NUMBER OF VOTERS GREATEST ON RECORD

Women Will Vote in Federal Election

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—In the forthcoming Federal general election thousands of women will vote who were not enfranchised at the last election. Then the female relatives of soldiers were entitled to the vote. The new election law enfranchises all women over twenty-one years, with certain exceptions in the case of women of foreign birth. Generally speaking, every person, male or female, will be qualified to vote who, not being an Indian ordinarily resident on an Indian reservation:

(a)—Is a British subject by birth or naturalization, and

(b)—Is of the full age of twenty-one years, and

(c)—has ordinarily resided in Canada for at least twelve months and in the electoral district where such person seeks to vote for at least two months immediately preceding the issue of the writ of election.

It is provided, however, that any Indian who served in the naval, military or air forces of Canada in the late war shall be qualified to vote, unless such Indian is otherwise disqualified.

ROOT WILL NOT BE MEMBER OF WORLD COURT

New York, Sept. 2.—Elihu Root has declined a nomination as a member of the International Court of Justice under the League of Nations because of his advanced age. The Italian consulate here announced today that Mr. Root had made his refusal known in a letter to Signor Tittoni, President of the Italian Senate, as chairman of the Italian nominators.

ONTARIO MAN FIRST TO ENTER COMMONS CONTEST

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—The first man in Canada to announce his candidature for Parliament, after the announcement of Premier Meighen in London last night that there would be a general election before the end of this year, is Capt. W. G. Ferguson, of Smith's Falls.

Capt. Ferguson, who is a well-known newspaperman, will run for Parliament in the County of Lanark. He will stand as an Independent.

PRESS COMMENTS ON THE ELECTION

Views Expressed by Many Canadian Newspapers

Toronto, Sept. 2.—Dealing with the forthcoming Federal general election, the Toronto Star says:

"The reasons publicly given for the decision that has been made are not satisfying, and are not those which were privately influential in determining the course of action."

Protest.

Winnipeg, Sept. 2.—The Winnipeg Free Press Bulletin, after stating that the electors of Canada will voice a protest at an election before redistribution, says:

"The West is not class conscious, but it seeks fair representation in keeping with its voting strength. While admiring Mr. Meighen for his ability, the West will have to tell him at the ballot box that he has made a mistake."

Mail and Empire.

Toronto, Sept. 2.—The Mail and Empire in an editorial on the announcement of a Federal election, says:

"Not only is the question of speedily arriving at tariff stability, and therefore at industrial stability, one of present urgency, but also the matter of determining whether the government is to be carried on upon a class basis or upon a national basis."

Toronto Telegram.

The Toronto Telegram under the caption: "Premier Meighen should not follow the advice of his worst enemies," says:

"Premier Meighen owes it to the country that all classes be asked to vote yes or no on the question: 'Are Canadian markets to be thrown open to American products and manufactures or are they to be preserved for Canadian products and manufacturers?'

"This question can only be answered by another session of Parliament, a redistribution bill that will make equal the votes of all men whether they be farmers, mechanics or bank presidents, and a tariff bill that will throw in Uncle Sam's teeth an answer to each and every clause of the Fordney Bill."

Montreal Gazette.

Montreal, Sept. 2.—The Montreal Gazette, dealing with the coming Federal election, says:

"If the Premier surrounds himself with strong men and consolidates his party, he will enter the fight the most formidable of the three parties. Out of the struggle we have faith enough in the common sense of the electors to believe a House of Commons majority will remain committed to the maintenance of our institutions and the perpetuation of the fiscal policy upon which Canada's progress and prosperity are founded."

Domestic Issues.

The Montreal Herald says:

"In the forthcoming election the whole discussion will turn upon purely domestic issues for the first

Magistrate Dismisses Special Police Charges

After a sharp passage of legal argument in the police court this morning, the charges against Special Constables Harry D. Craig and Charles E. Brown were withdrawn, Magistrate Jay stating that irrespective of what the Attorney-General might be empowered to request in this connection, his own opinion was to stop the cases and he had seen no reason to alter that opinion.

W. D. Carter, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General, outlined the wishes of the Crown in this respect; H. D. Twigg appeared for the two constables, retained by Chief of Police Fry; and Frank Higgins, K.C., appeared for the informant, Albert Tisdale, who himself is now on $500 bail to face trial on Wednesday.

"Tormented" in Discharge of Duty.

In opening the case for the defence Mr. Twigg explained that he had been retained by the police department. "I understand the Crown has exercised its undoubted right, and has decided that it will not proceed with these prosecutions," he stated, "these men are being tormented in the execution of their duty, by private and vexatious prosecutions. I will ask your honor to dismiss the charge against the accused."

Mandamus Proceedings Threat.

Mr. Higgins was on his feet immediately, advising the court that he would take mandamus proceedings, and therefore would outline the drift of his statement on behalf of the prosecution.

Marconi Says Mars May Send Wireless Waves

New York, Sept. 2.—Wireless waves 150,000 metres long, which he believed may have come from Mars, were picked up several months ago by Guglielmo Marconi during experiments aboard his yacht Electra in the Mediterranean. J. C. H. Macbeth, London manager of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, Limited, made this statement yesterday at a luncheon.

The maximum wave length produced in the world to-day is 14,000 metres, Mr. Macbeth said, and the regularity of the waves detected by Mr. Marconi and other experts led them to believe they were not electrical disturbances but efforts of Mars to get into communication with the earth. The only resemblance of the waves to any code used on the earth was a similarity to the letter V in the international code.

On April 8, 1920, when Mr. Marconi set out from London on an experimental voyage he declared he was not "going fishing for Mars messages," and attributed wireless disturbances which then were felt simultaneously on three continents to electrical disturbances on the sun or some equally remote place.

MEIGHEN STATED DECISION IN LONDON

Made Federal Election Announcement in Ontario

AN AUDIENCE OF 3,000 HEARD HIM

Contest at Polls Before Close of the Year

London, Ont., Sept. 1.—"I think the right thing to do is to recommend a dissolution of Parliament at an early date to provide time for full discussion and an election before the New Year. That course I intend to pursue," said Premier Meighen in address before an audience of 3,000 people here to-night.

Redistribution could not be carried out within a reasonable time, the Prime Minister stated. The census returns would not be complete, it had been announced, until December, and that would mean another twenty months or so of indecision with regard to tariff matters. Canada could not get settled down to business unless the tariff problem was settled.

The real challenge to the Government, he said, came from the Farmers' Party, which demanded free trade. That the Farmers' policy was wrong he was certain, and he was equally certain that it would be proven wrong by developments.

A revision of the tariff in Canada was overdue. To decide the principle of the tariff was the big, imperative question before the people of Canada to-day.

There was no doubt as to what the issue would be. It was a straight tariff issue laid down before the country.

Defence.

Dealing with the outlay for defence purposes, Premier Meighen said that was not an issue, and no man could make it so. Canada was spending less per capita for this than any other nation. It cost Canada $2.15 per head, against the bill of $13.13 in the United States. Australia's bill was $6.13, and New Zealand's $5.82. Defence by land, sea and air cost Great Britain $22.36, and other countries higher still.

For naval and military defence Canada paid less than other countries of her size. The nucleus of a militia was essential if the country was not to be helpless in the face of aggression until it was too late.

Tariff.

The tariff policy of Canada was a real issue to-day, however. For forty-three years Canada had had a protective tariff. That protective tariff had been maintained throughout the throes of depression. It was required to raise the necessary revenues. To-day it was necessary for both protection and revenue, Mr. Meighen said. Canada had progressed by this plan. In the face of difficulties there had been unretarded progress. The foundations of a great country had been well and truly laid.

This had not all been accomplished by insistence on a "high protection tariff. For years back Canada's tariff had ranged round sixteen per cent. of the total of goods imported; to-day it was less than fifteen per cent. The tariff on dutiable goods alone averaged under twenty-two per cent., the lowest since 1876. The Prime Minister doubted if this was even higher than that of Great Britain under the tariff which had just passed the House of Commons. The man who talked of the tariff of Canada as a high tariff, especially if he had lived in a country which maintained a higher tariff, was a humbug, declared Premier Meighen.

The world was reeling in the shock of war; nations were struggling to adjust themselves to new conditions. Every competing country was defending itself by a higher tariff, striving to hold its own population and establish its own industries by surer markets at home, and thus enable them to battle for wider world markets. Production on a large scale and at a low price was their aim. That was the competition Canada faced.

United States.

The United States had sold goods to Canada at the rate of $773,136,975 annually for five years and only bought half as much in return, and the United States had just erected a new tariff wall to keep out Canadian and other products. That tariff wall imperilled Canada's export business. A few years ago Canada had accepted the United States offer of free wheat and flour, but the war embargo had interfered, and the reciprocal arrangements had been effective only a few months when the "barrage" was directed against Canadian products in the American markets.

Wheat and Flour.

A tax of 35 cents against wheat and 20 cents against flour had been placed against Canada. Barriers had been placed against the export of potatoes.

Three years ago an agreement regarding fisheries had been reached, and six weeks ago it had been cancelled and all the old barriers renewed.

The Prime Minister spoke these words in no spirit of hostility. The United States had every right to pursue this course if it saw fit, but Canada had every right also to safeguard her industrial system, and that safeguard lay in a tariff system made by the Canadian people and for the Canadian people. That system must not rest on the issue of arrangements with the United States, declared the Prime Minister.

"The language I use interprets the conduct of great leaders of both parties through almost all our history. I believe it is the overwhelming sentiment of Canadians to-day," Mr. Meighen declared.

Reference to Liberals.

A challenge to this policy, said Mr. Meighen, came from the official Opposition under Hon. Mackenzie King. It came "with muffled drums and an uncertain chorus," and none knew what was their song or what they intended to do. The Prime Minister quoted from the Liberal platform adopted at the 1919 National Liberal Convention, and said he put on record the question: Does Mr. Mackenzie King stand pledged to put that platform in effect if returned to power? That question admitted of only two answers.

"Put that convention platform of placing on the free list nineteen classes of articles, including foodstuffs, farm implements and machiners, lumber of every kind, increasing the British preference at once to fifty per cent. and substantially reducing the tariff which they themselves had placed on all clothing, boots and shoes and articles of general consumption in effect, and you add enormously to unemployment. As it is, we have far more than enough, but we have the least for our population of any country that went through the war."

That platform, declared Mr. Meighen, would cripple Canadian industries. The wiping away of the small barriers at present effective would open Canadian markets to American goods. If Mr. King answered "Yes," his platform was unsound and un-Canadian. If he answered "No," he convicted himself of bad faith and therefore, was unfit for power. If he refused any answer then he was unfit for high office because he was lacking in frankness and candor. The challenge of the Liberals was not a serious challenge, however, said the Premier. He doubted if that party would have a single candidate between Lake Superior and the mountains.

Farmers.

The real challenge came from the Farmers' Party, born in Western Canada, whose set purpose was to reverse the fiscal policy of this country.

That party had grown to unexpected strength and in Alberta it had registered a triumph by almost 10,000 majority. The facts could not be ignored. The manly thing was to accept their significance and get up and face them. The breath of life of that party, Mr. Meighen said, was free trade. It could mean nothing else.

"All these men were protectionists," the Premier said, "but they all had to listen to silly chatter of demagogues telling them they were the creatures of privilege and the allies of the rich."

The Farmer movement, Mr. Meighen declared, had grown to full maturity. It had demonstrated its strength, but these men of the Farmers' Party were wrong, and time would prove them so.

"There are those who refuse to be alarmed," said the Prime Minister. "They say, 'Look at Mr. Crerar. He is already hedging on the doctrine that he has preached for years—free trade. He says it is a fiscal paradise, but he does not want paradise too soon.' Very true; I know he is talking nonsense of that kind, but the movement is bigger than its leader and their organization won't be betrayed."

Pledges.

The Prime Minister said he supposed that every farmer elected would be pledged to their platform and his resignation would be in hand as security.

The Alberta Liberals in January, 1919, had adopted the whole Farmers' platform and declared that Canada should strike for free trade with both Britain and the United States. Prominent figures in the Liberal Opposition had just got through declaring that the Farmer platform and their own (on tariff matters), were the same.

Revision.

"A revision of our tariff is due, and overdue," said Mr. Meighen. "We must decide our tariff policy. That is the big, imperative thing facing the people of Canada to-day, and until they decide, and we get tariff stability, we cannot have business stability. Until we know whether the people want a protective tariff or whether they don't, no tariff is secure."

"When should the contest come?" asked Mr. Meighen, adding that it must be faced. "He did not want to be responsible for another year and a half without dependable revision. If the voice of Medicine Hat was to be the voice of Canada, somebody else besides himself would have to give it effect."

Redistribution.

"What about redistribution?" he asked his audience.

"If a redistribution bill could be passed at a special session without involving a long delay, then a special session ought to be called to try to pass such a bill. Though I have never pledged myself to redistribution, I have sincerely intended to submit such a measure, and have argued that the need of redistribution was an important reason why the present Parliament should not be prematurely dissolved."

But, he added, he could see no reasonable possibility of having such a task accomplished.

Census.

Complete census returns, as required by law, could not be assembled before December 1. Even could the census be completed and Parliament called by November 1, there would be no possibility of being through with the session by December, and as the new Parliament would have to meet early in the Spring, that would mean a midwinter campaign.

There were, therefore, he declared, no means of redistribution except at the price of holding the country in suspense through very difficult times, for eighteen to twenty months, on an issue formidably challenged, an issue that went to the heart of the country's industrial and national life.

"For these reasons, I think the right thing to do is to recommend a dissolution of Parliament at an early date to provide time for full discussion and an election before the New Year. That course I intend to pursue," said Premier Meighen. "There is this fact to be noted—not so much by way of argument as by way of interest—that the rural portion of Canada would gain in the prairies West, but they would lose, beyond all question, more in the East than they could possibly gain in the West. The advantage is with them."

In the contest to be faced, said the Premier, the blind and evil doctrine that Government consisted of merely balancing advantages between different classes and occupants, must be got rid of. There must be equitable laws. The burden of taxation should be borne by those best able to bear it and that rule could not be pressed further than it had been by this Government of Canada without making the poor suffer.

Taxation.

Up to the end of last month, said Mr. Meighen, Canada had collected $35,337,981 in customs taxation and $57,979,050 in direct taxation. The customs tax on articles used by the farmers alone—machinery and implements—was the lowest schedule in the tariff. It averaged now 14.6 per cent. lower than it was ten years ago. But of the $57,970,050 in direct taxation, the farmers, who were two-thirds of the whole population, paid approximately two-thirds of one per cent. of the whole.

Ten years ago, he said, the customs revenue of Canada had been almost the whole of the national income. To-day it was less than half.

The proportion of Canada's rural population to the rest of her people had not kept up, but farm production had multiplied many times over through the last forty years.

"And in our rate of progress and in the improvement of our conditions we certainly do not suffer any comparison with any other land. I ask you if more than that could be done?"

Speaking to the workingmen, the Premier said he would not "prate like the demagogue, and pretend that everyone else was their foe." This was a time of unemployment. The war pendulum had swung back and the shattered world had not steadied yet. It had not developed markets, but was struggling to readjust itself to the era of peace.

Work.

"Look over civilization where you like," said Mr. Meighen, "and you will find that conditions here are better than anywhere else. This is the country that will recover first. But it is work and all classes of work, that we want."

To provide this work, he said, our industries must stay here. They must expand and the unemployed must be given jobs. This could not be brought about by washing out the tariff.

Canada must never drift into a position where she would be dependent on the fiscal decisions of another nation—and that the most aggressive commercial nation on earth.

"But my appeal," said Premier Meighen, "is not to any one class. My appeal is to the whole people, to every man and woman who wants to do right by this country, who wants to preserve and expand our field of endeavor. My appeal is to everyone who breathes the spirit of the Dominion; who sounds the name Canadian with pride and hope and love—come, let us get together and engage in battle and show once more that Canada is resolved on her course, that she won't be turned back or daunted, that she is steadfast, strong and true."

American Airmen Are Headed For Siberia

Prince Rupert, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press)—The flying trip from Mexico to Siberia, interrupted by an accident to the aeroplane in which the trip is being made, will be resumed on Sunday, when the fliers will hop off from Prince Rupert for Ketchikan. The disabled plane was brought in from Hazelton last night and is expected to be ready for flight on Sunday.

The route planned is from Ketchikan to Skagway, to White Horse, to Dawson, to Fairbanks, to Nome and thence to Siberia. The fliers propose to penetrate Siberia several hundred miles. Returning to Nome, they will ship their plane to Seattle on a steamship and return by the regular passenger route.

The explorers experienced rough weather between Edmonton and Prince George.

The third notice in the matter is being mailed by the bureau to-day.

PRAIRIE SOLDIER FARMERS SUCCEED

Good Work Under Settlement Board Near Regina

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—Fine results are being shown, it is said, by the twenty-seven soldier-farmers who took up land under the Soldier Settlement Board on the Poor Man's Reserve (formerly Indian) near Regina. This reserve was taken over last year by the Board and comprises 8,320 acres, divided into farms averaging 308 acres each. The average price paid by the settlers was $11.25 an acre.

An inspection of the settlement a few days ago showed that remarkable progress had been made and Board officials say that $25 an acre would be a low estimate on the value of the land to-day. This means an increase in land value alone to these settlers of about $3,500 each.

SEATTLE "QUEEN OF BOOTLEGGERS" SOUGHT

Seattle, Sept. 2.—Police and federal authorities are searching the city for the "Queen of the Bootleggers," a Seattle woman, believed to be directing the activities of a gang of rum runners, on the theory that once in their hands the "Queen" will be able to furnish valuable information concerning the rifling of the Government liquor value at Wall Street and Elliott Avenue Monday night.

The gang, with the woman at its head, has been operating between Seattle and Canada for some time, according to the police.

SORRY HE SPOKE.

At a dinner given recently, a young man, whose chief aim to distinction seemed to be an eyeglass and a drawl said to a man near him:

"Beastly nuisance, isn't it? Spoke to that fellah over there—took him for a gentleman, and found he had a ribbon in his coat. The confounded head waiter, I suppose?"

"Oh, no," replied the other, "that is the guest of the evening."

"Hang it all, is it?" said the other "Look here, old chap—would you mind sitting next to me at dinner and telling me who everyone is?"

"I would do so with pleasure," was the reply, "but, you see, I can't—I'm the 'confounded head waiter.'"

The value of the clay products marketed in the United States in 1920 is estimated by the United States Geological Survey at the enormous sum of $364,220,000, by far the highest record value in the United States or any other country. This amount represents an increase of $103,430,000 as compared with 1919, of about $143,647,000 as compared with 1918, and of nearly $200,000,000 as compared with 1910.

ALL THE WORLD IN YOUR GARDEN

The Story of Our Kitchen Vegetables

It would be difficult to find anything more cosmopolitan than a representative kitchen garden.

Many of our well-known vegetables are not peculiar to Great Britain, but have been brought here at one time or another from almost every part of the world.

For the most part our foreign kitchen vegetables have been procured from southern countries. Many of these plants have required considerable care and attention to make them thrive in our very variable climate, while on the other hand some grow so easily even in open fields that they have become classified with weeds.

The ancients appear to have been fairly well acquainted with curled cabbage, and even with some of those kinds which we call broccoli to-day. The broccoli used at present travelled from Italy to France, and reached this country during the sixteenth century.

About the end of the same century the cauliflower was introduced from the Levant to Italy. Afterwards it found its way to Germany, from which country we procured it. For some time the seeds were obtained annually from Cyprus, Candia, and Constantinople by the Venetians and Genoese, who sent them to every part of Europe. At that time the art of raising seeds was not understood. A traveller in Egypt in 1588 found cauliflowers thriving there, but it was not until another century had passed that this vegetable found its way to Europe.

The turnip was well known to the Romans, whose method of cultivating it must have been very superior. One Roman writer states that some single turnip roots weighed as much as forty pounds. The Romans introduced the vegetable into England.

During the years 1629-1630, when there was a serious food shortage, we are told that wholesome bread was made from boiled turnips kneaded with a small quantity of wheaten flour.

English kitchen gardens, until the end of the sixteenth century, were poorly supplied with vegetables, and it was not until the reign of Henry VIII. that any carrots, turnips, salads, or other edible roots were produced here. What small quantities of these vegetables we used were imported from Holland.

The most important of our kitchen vegetables, the potato, is a native of South America, where it was found in a wild state in both the tropical and temperate regions of the western coast.

It reached Spain in the sixteenth century, where it was known as papas. From Spain it went to Italy, where it was christened taratoufli. Leaving Italy, it was taken to Vienna, where that variety remained.

Potatoes—One Shilling a Pound.

The potato arrived in England from North America, being brought from Virginia by the colonists sent out by Sir Walter Raleigh in 1584. The vegetable was first cultivated in Ireland by Sir Robert Southwell from tubers given to him by Raleigh. From Ireland their cultivation spread to Lancashire, whence they gradually spread all over the country.

It is interesting to note, in these days of high prices, that in 1619 the market price of potatoes was one shilling a pound.—Tit-Bits.

THE FARMERS' PLANS.

To the Editor:—The Times, like all progressive papers is keeping abreast of the times, adding new features every little while. We have had "Mutt and Jeff," "Bringing Up Father," serial stories, etc., and now it appears you have added still another, which might properly be captioned "In Lighter Vein," but which appeared on the front page recently under the double column headline "Farmers plan to put city idle to work."

But why, Mr. Editor, was not the meeting of the Farmers' Institutes advertised under "Forthcoming picnics?" Surely the plans presented for relieving the unemployment situation must have furnished more amusement than can be obtained at an ordinary outing.

According to The Times report we are told that the hard-headed farmers adjourned their conference at 1 o'clock for luncheon, after which they were to consider the proposals of N. F. Pullen. These proposals were that idle men should be placed on farms at $20 per month and board or starve. Mr. Pullen avers that the Government has a duty to keep its citizens alive, at a subsistence level, but not in comfort. Were he married and father of several children he might wonder what would become of his family on $20 a month.

I venture to assert that ample help can be obtained for any farmer or group of farmers who will give board and lodging to a man and his family with $20 to boot. There may be no excuse for single men not accepting this proposition, but for a married man—and most of the unemployed are married or have dependents—it is out of the question.

Mr. Pullen states that the subsistence level and wages could be set by the Department of Labor. As a newspaperman Mr. Pullen should know that each month the Department of Labor issues a subsistence level for a man with a family of five or so. This subsistence level, exclusive of clothing necessities runs to around $21 per week.

J. Y. Copeman, of Cowichan, who supported the Pullen plan, stated that before the war a man who would not work was an outcast, and died eventually. Well, well, we're learning something new every day. Too bad old Ponce de Leon didn't know that the fountain of perpetual youth was work.

According to Mr. Copeman, the only duty and right of the Government is to see that every man is kept alive and doesn't die. Why put the undertakers out of business, Mr. C., likewise a few score doctors?

H. J. L. Calman, of Shawnigan Lake, states that "before we can do anything with the Chinaman we have to recognize that we will have to get down to work like him." He endorses the Pullen plan of $20 per month and board, yet the Chinese domestic servants and gardeners get anywhere from $40 to $60 and $75 a month and board.

G. E. Scull, of Langford, states that thousands of young men went away and into the army "where it takes six men to do one man's work. Now they have come out of the army, and they can't work, and don't want to work."

Shades of Kitchener! What an easy problem he would have had, had Mr. Scull been attached to the War Office in London. No conscription, no lack of labor. As for the remainder of Mr. Scull's "eulogy," I'll leave it to the returned men.

The farmers of British Columbia may have just cause for grievances against the Government. They have the remedy, but are afraid to use it. The farmers of Ontario and Alberta solved the problem by entering the political field and sweeping their provinces. When the farmers of British Columbia do the same let us hope that the speakers at yesterday's meeting will be given an opportunity to put into practice their plans for relieving the unemployed.

TO RAISE STATUS OF CHEMISTS

Canada Will Have Own Institute for Profession

(b) To form an organization immediately available for consultation by the Government;

(c) To encourage original research, develop and maintain high standards in the profession, and enhance the usefulness of the profession to the public;

(d) To protect the public by gathering together a body of chemists who may be consulted with confidence;

(e) To look after and promote the professional well-being and interests of chemists by—having registration bureaux, social centres, employment bureaux, centres and mediums for the acquirement and interchange of scientific experience and knowledge, clearing houses of chemical knowledge, including libraries and bureaux;

(f) To establish scholarships, medals and prizes;

(g) To petition Parliament in the interests of chemists;

A GENERAL ELECTION.

Premier Meighen's announcement of a general election before the end of the year—which means before another session of Parliament and redistribution—must have surprised those who based their expectations upon the trenchant opposition to such a course expressed by him in speeches in the House of Commons last February and in March, 1920.

Replying to a challenge by Mr. Mackenzie King last February 15, to dissolve the House and go to the country, Mr. Meighen said: "Do they want the West represented by a fraction of its proper and due representation in a Parliament that may last for five years? The West is undoubtedly entitled under the census to from ten to twenty-five—no one knows how many—seats in this Parliament. If this House is dissolved before redistribution that representation is denied. If this House is dissolved nothing can be gained except a confused and utterly uninterpretable verdict on the tariff issue that can get no government anywhere, and can be a mandate to no government at all."

On March 5, 1920, the Prime Minister said: "I appeal to all honorable gentlemen to allow Western Canada to get its representation, which it assuredly will, because there is no intention to have an election until an opportunity is provided to give Western Canada its full share of representation after the census is taken."

Mr. Meighen now is going to do the very thing he so strongly attacked in those two speeches; to disfranchise the West to the extent of probably twenty-five members for an indeterminate period, in order to try to obtain—to quote his own words—"a confused and utterly uninterpretable verdict on the tariff issue that can get no government anywhere and can be a mandate to no government at all."

What has caused the change of front? In the first place, he has been subjected to heavy pressure from the big interests in Montreal and Toronto, who fear the effect of the Progressive movement upon their own position as the masters of Canada's fiscal policy—a position they have held for many years, but which is bound to be weakened as Western Canada grows in political power and in its intention to play a larger part in the determination of the country's policies. No doubt the difficulty of maintaining a majority in the House another session is another factor. Neither of these considerations nor any other excuses he may observe can justify to the Canadian public the injustice to the West and the injury to its interests a general election before redistribution involves, particularly when the only result of it can be, in his own words, "a confused and utterly uninterpretable verdict on the tariff issue that can get no government anywhere and can be a mandate to no government at all."

WORK IT OUT TOGETHER

During the last two years municipal delegations have waited upon the Oliver Cabinet for the purpose of discussing civic finance and taxation matters generally. On almost every occasion the arguments from both sides have varied only in the minutest particulars. The Government has told the cities that its revenue is not sufficient to meet its liabilities and that if it were to divert any of its collections into municipal coffers the credit of the Province would suffer. The civic delegations have invariably contended that various exposes which have to be defrayed by the municipalities either should become the obligations of the Government or else some of the Government's revenue should be given to them to ease the load—both amounting to the same thing in the end. Yesterday's interchange between the Premier and two of his colleagues and the convention now in session at Port Alberni produced nothing new except a suggestion from the leader of the Government to the effect that he would be willing to meet a committee from the municipalities to work out a basis of future taxation with the object of reaching a plan that would protect provincial and civic interests. This is the obvious step to take. There has been enough "open diplomacy" for everybody. The whole Province understands the two points of view; but the time has arrived for a joint effort at solution. If the municipalities do not take the Premier at his word and go in and help him they will hinder their own cause.

REVENUE SHRINKAGE.

In his last budget speech Sir Henry Drayton predicted that the shrinkage in customs collections for the years 1921-22 would be $30,000,000. Only four months of that year have passed and the collections have decreased $34,435,586, four millions more than the Finance Minister expected the shrinkage would be for the entire year. This means that the Federal deficit which is expected to be nearly $300,000,000 is likely to be much greater, unless the Government is able to find some new sources of revenue. Obviously an increase of the tariff will not help if the present duties are showing so serious a loss. That, no doubt, is the chief reason no tariff revision measure was enacted last session on the report of the Commission which traversed the country in 1920. What this country needs more than anything else is rigid economy in expenditures—an Anti-Waste sentiment such as is gaining such headway in England. Spending $625,000,000 a year against an estimated revenue of $340,000,000—an estimate which is now shrinking alarmingly—is not travelling the road to solvency. Mr. Meighen is quite mistaken when he intimates the tariff is the only issue in the forthcoming election. It may be for its protected beneficiaries. But what about the vast multitude whose purchasing power is so reduced that customs collections are now dropping at the rate of nearly $9,000,000 per month?

THE P. G. E.

Although the Legislature as a whole may not reach the conclusion that further construction on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway should not be considered until the financial condition of the Province has improved it would do well to weigh the comparative merits of an extension of the line beyond Prince George at this stage with the early construction of a comparatively short stretch of line from Clinton to Asheroft to connect with the national and C. P. R. trans-continental systems. It has been suggested that the Squamish-Clinton section be abandoned altogether because the cost of maintenance will continue to overbalance the revenue from freight and passenger traffic. This proposal likewise dovetails into a companion project which would convert the abandoned right-of-way into an automobile highway. In other words it is contended that the removal of rails from Squamish to Clinton would result in a financial saving and leave a scenic road that would be instantly popular. It also suggests that if the P. G. E. were linked to the trans-continental systems at Asheroft there would be a division of business—now almost wholly in the hands of the two premier roads—and the prospect of possible acquisition by one or the other as soon as the logical course of development shall have taken place in the territory that is and will be served by the P. G. E. Last but not least the trans-British Columbia highway question would settle itself.

SUBMISSION AT LAST?

If Ireland's only condition for a settlement with the British Government is embraced by a demand for "a free union" the gulf between Downing Street and Dublin has been appreciably narrowed by the Sinn Fein reply to Mr. Lloyd George. Acceptance of the principle of union, such as the interpretation reached by the official organ of the Dail Eireann obviously implies, simply means that the republican bee is no longer in the Sinn Fein bonnet. It may be that de Valera's conception of "government by the consent of the governed" will outdistance the latitude which the British terms prescribe; but if the two parties to the controversy are prepared to discuss the same principle there is a tangible hope of success. In the meantime the inexorable logic of General Smuts and the several examples of "free unions" within the British Empire seem to have had an influence upon the Dail Eireann. Coupled with the fact that de Valera dare not take the responsibility for authorizing a new reign of terror they are forceful arguments.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Premier Smuts asked an audience in Cape Town not to demand the impossible or universal panaceas. But these things will be asked for until the crack of doom.

If we are correctly informed by The Echo de Paris Premier Briand's cabinet is facing a crisis and most of its members may resign any minute. We are unmoved; the month in which a crisis did not develop would be of little interest to the French politician.

Once more it is suggested that Mars has been up to its pranks by attempting to get into wireless communication with the Earth. But nothing will make us believe that the Prime Minister's announcement of a general election last night has anything to do with the reports circulated by the scientific world.

And if the Legislature should decide to take up the rails between Squamish and Clinton and convert the right-of-way into an automobile road why could not the produce that is being and will be produced along the route traversed be hauled by community motor trucks? The road is no longer an adjunct of the railway; it is fast becoming a competitor.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1921.

(Copyright, 1921, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Astrologers read this as an unfortunate day, for Jupiter, Saturn, Neptune and Mars are all in malefic aspect.

All the signs seem to indicate that there will be bitter discussion regarding the army and navy and widely divergent views that cannot be easily reconciled.

Neptune is in a place held to prevent sane and clear vision on questions of public moment.

It is well for business men to follow conservative methods in the early Autumn when there will be a gradual settling of conditions. The outlook is on the whole most assuring.

California and other Western States are subject to much better planetary direction than the East.

Women are now subject to influences that should make them readjust many of their ideas concerning business and professional methods, for they will have many severe tests to judgment.

The stars foreshadow a tendency on the part of men as well as women to take big risks in financial matters and they are forewarned that the seers prognosticate losses and disaster.

According to the readings of the planetary aspects those who are to enjoy prosperity and success must conform to conservative standards of life and work.

Labor troubles will mark the Autumn when women will have an opportunity to uncover instances of injustice and discrimination in industry.

Congressmen and members of State Legislatures are to learn that the votes of women will rebuke records that are not in accordance with the highest ideals of service, astrologers declare.

Great honor is to be bestowed on a woman who is to be appointed to some foreign service.

The President of the United States continues under the best direction of the stars, and his fair fortunes will be largely influenced by Mrs. Harding's horoscope, which contains many promising signs.

Persons whose birthdate it is probable will have an eventful year with many ups and downs.

Children born on this day will be married for varied experiences all through life. These subjects of Virgo often reach the highest places.

The question of credits was referred back to the Supreme Council. The matter of a loan, as proposed by Mr. Nansen, was regarded as impracticable, and it was explained that the Bolsheviki had enough gold in their possession to pay for food supplies.

The recommendation that the nations proceed independently followed an explanation by Mr. Brown regarding the methods of the American Relief Administration. He said his organization would gladly co-operate but only in the famine districts, and then independently of centralized control.

Note Sent.

A note to Tchitcherin, Bolshevik Foreign Minister, will be dispatched to-day. It will ask for fullest guarantees for safety and privileges in the famine area for the committee of inquiry.

The Commission decided to ask the League of Nations to take measures to prevent the spread of epidemics to neighboring states.

In Petrograd.

Paris, Sept. 2.—The first kitchen for the feeding of children was established in Petrograd to-day by the American Relief Administration.

Two steamships have arrived in Petrograd with cargoes of food.

Denial.

Riga, Sept. 2.—American authorities here declare that the charge made in Moscow by Leon Trotzky that the American intelligence service participated in an alleged plot to assassinate Russian Communist leaders is ridiculous.

It is pointed out that the Moscow Soviet, during the session at which alleged plot was discussed, adopted a resolution expressing satisfaction over the agreement reached with the American Relief Administration and another with the German Red Cross.

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN BY UNION

toria delegation to prevent him fighting cases against Union members.

Port Alberni, Sept. 1.—Councillor Jack Loutet was re-elected president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities at the convention here, and Mayor McHardy, of Nelson, was elected vice-president. Other officers are:

Secretary—Ex-Mayor A. W. Gray, New Westminster.

Executive—Mayor Johnston, New Westminster; Reeve Lockley, Esquimalt; Mayor Vance, North Vancouver; Alderman Colley, Kamloops; Reeve E. J. Chambers, Penticton; Reeve Lembke, Point Grey; Reeve McKenzie, Surrey; Mayor Porter, Victoria.

Parliamentary Agent's Position.

Threatened by F. A. McDiarmid, its parliamentary agent, that he would resign if a recommendation of the executive prohibiting him from accepting briefs against municipalities was adopted, the Union rejected the executive's advice by a vote of 41 to 5.

Mr. McDiarmid's proposal to enlarge the scope of his office at a salary of about $6,000 a year was rejected, but he will receive $1,500 a year instead of $500 as last year, and additional fees for public utilities work.

The Victoria delegation voted solidly against the executive's recommendation on this point. Mayor Johnston, New Westminster, was the only other delegate who voted with them. Premier Oliver held that the Union should not require an agent, and that members of the Legislature should do the work.

SCOTS LIKE B. C. BEST FOR FARMING

Investigators Return Home to Recommend This Province to Settlers.

British Columbia is to be recommended to the farmers of Central and Northern Scotland as a place to come to as a result of investigations made here by James Dunlop and W. Stewart of Kilmarnock and Edinburgh in the interests of Scottish Boards of Trade.

"Climatic conditions and farming methods here are much the same as in parts of Scotland," said Mr. Dunlop. "We return home feeling free to recommend British Columbia as desirable place to settle for those seeking a broader field than that to be found at home."

Since their arrival in Victoria yesterday the Scotsmen have been guests of A. McKeachie, who has been showing them the chief agricultural district on the southern part of the Island. They were out at Gordon Head to-day, and said they were fascinated with it.

They are also investigating the possibilities for agricultural investors. Part of this morning they spent with the Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, and went into the land settlement policy here.

Mr. Dunlop and Mr. Stewart have been investigating conditions in California. They inspected there the community settlement founded by Dr. Elwood Mead, the modern community settlement ideas in connection with it impressed them favorably, they said. They also visited the Mormon settlements in Utah.

"British Columbia appeals to the Scot more than any other section we have seen," said Mr. Stewart.

He declared that they did not fancy the Prairies, although they found great progress being made there in general farming.

Literature describing soldier settlement and land clearing here and lantern slides of development work are being taken to Scotland by these two men in order to show the Scots there what kind of life they will be able to take up when they arrive here.

They also visited the office of the Hon. William Sloan Minister of Mines, to get information about coal mining here, with a view to encouraging numbers of Scottish coal miners to come here.

DRUG SMUGGLER HEAVILY FINED

Fung Yeun, Detected by Customs Officer, Is Assessed $505

Fung Yeun, a Chinaman, caught by Chief Customs Inspector Burns as he was landing from the Blue Funnel liner Protesilaus, after a round trip to the Orient recently, and charged with being unlawfully in possession of opium that was valued at $2,000, was to-day convicted of being unlawfully in possession of the large quantity of the drug and fined $500, plus $5 costs, with the alternative of six months in jail. In addition the accused loses the $2,000 worth of opium.

A second charge is to be preferred against the accused, it was intimated to-day, the hearing being set for to-morrow. R. C. Lowe appeared for the accused.

Nellie Pitton, charged with being under the influence of liquor while in charge of a motor vehicle, pleaded not guilty, but was convicted and fined $25. The officer who made the arrest at 3 o'clock on the morning of August 31, told the court that he had a severe tussle to get the accused to come to the station, after he had first given her the opportunity of going home in a peaceful manner. R. C. Lowe appeared for the accused. Much of the evidence was contradictory in nature and disputed on either side.

SUMAS WORK IS SPEEDED UP

Proceeding Faster Than Hoped For, Says Hon. E. P. Barrow

So fast is work going ahead at Sumas that before the end of the year many of the subsidiary dykes will be practically completed, the Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, announced to-day.

"Construction work at Sumas is proceeding even better than we had hoped for," he said. "The high water held up the work considerably all Summer, but now the big machines are moving dirt at a rapid rate."

Hon. Mr. Barrow will make a trip of inspection to Sumas next week. He will officially open the Chilliwack Fair while he is in that district.

BOAT BUILDERS TO GO ON

The B. C. Yacht and Boat Builders, Ltd., will stay in business and will go out after all that is offered, as a result of an agreement reached between the company and the Department of Industries. Legal action taken by the Department to wind up the company and disburse assets has been halted.

Lincoln Smith, of Victoria, has joined the board of directors of the company. Marine ways and a floating slip for small craft will be put in.

Returned soldiers compose the company. They received a loan of $10,000 from the Department of Industries under Premier Oliver.

Mystery Surrounds Dynamite.—The hundred sticks of dynamite, found the other day near the property of the B. C. Electric by two children playing in the lot is now at the police station, and may be turned over to the city engineer. The box containing the dynamite is one of the Canadian Explosives, and the sticks bear the date April 1915. Considerable interest surrounds the mystery of the appearance of dynamite in the place it was found. It was not found on the B. C. E. R. property, as at first reported, but in a lot adjacent, in an old shed

HOTELMEN FAVOR MALT LIQUOR SALE

President of New Association States Organization's Plans

H. H. Jones, of Port Moody, president of the B. C. Tourist Hotel Protective Association, was in the city yesterday perfecting plans for organization of the hoteimen of this city into a compact body to further the efforts of the association in obtaining a "beer clause" at the Fall session of the Legislature.

Mr. Jones states that a house-to-house canvass will be made in all the cities in order to gauge the sentiment of the people apropos the present restrictions on the sale of beer.

By Glass Not by Bottle.

"We are satisfied," stated Mr. Jones, "that we can prove to the members the people wish the privilege of buying beer by the glass, instead of by the dozen bottles, which they must carry home. We do not care for the whisky trade. That trade is what causes most of the evils accruing from alcohol. The people adopted Government control in preference to prohibition because they realized the absurdity of the latter. Had they been given an opportunity, we feel certain they would have given the Government a mandate to allow the sale of beer over the bar.

"The Prohibitionists had their way in framing the Prohibition Act. They made a failure of it and it went by the boards. We submit that we should be allowed some latitude in amending the present act. We who have been engaged in the business obviously know to what lengths we can go in satisfying the public demand. Let the Government continue to dispense the hard stuff, but give the people what they want in the way of beer and light wines. Quebec has tried it and found it workable. We wish to prove to the members that the people of this Province are as temperate as the Quebeckers.

Good Wholesome Beer.

"We are working in harmony with the Moderation League. We already have sounded sentiment in the rural districts of the Province, and have found that it is overwhelmingly in favor of beer over the bar. We don't want near-beer, nor six per cent. beer. That concoction is worse than the worst moonshine whisky ever made. We want good, wholesome beer of at least eight per cent.

"If we don't get a beer clause this session, some of us will be forced to close our hostelries. If the Government is going to capitalize its scenery it must have hotels for the tourists to stay at, while enjoying the scenery.

Proceed by Petition.

"We are willing to purchase beer from the Government or from the breweries, and will meet any reasonable argument in opposition to our claims. We shall prove to the members by petitions signed by residents of the Province, that the Government has a mandate to allow the sale of beer over the bar. We believe commonsense on the part of the Government will do the rest."

Mr. Jones left for the mainland on last night's boat.

Permission, Not Permits.—Secretary Pope, of the Victoria School Board, stated this morning that since the abolition of the regulation requiring permits from the School Board office for children newly attending school, it is only necessary for parents to take their children to school on re-opening day and receive the principal's permission for their entry. Neither School Board nor school principals now issue permits prior to the resumption of daily studies.

INDOOR FETE HELD AT "PENTRELEW"

Yesterday's Affair Netted $121 For Social Service Work

Weather conditions militating against an al fresco affair yesterday afternoon, the garden fete at the residence of Lady Crease assumed the character of an indoor bazaar, and was held in the house. Although the uncertain weather kept many people away, faithful friends of the Social Service Committee and Girls' Club lent their patronage, and as a result the splendid sum of $121.50 will be available for the carrying on of these two phases of community work.

A delightful musical programme added much to the pleasure of patrons, songs being contributed by Mrs. Knight, Miss Mamie Fraser, James Hunter and Master H. Nesbitt, whose songs were very warmly encored, while Mr. Green gave a cornet solo. Miss Laddie Watkis was at the piano. Mrs. J. D. Hallam and Miss Crease acted as general conveners of the affair, and the various stall holders were as follows: Butterfly booth, Mrs. Hoey; touch-and-take, Mrs. P. Goepel, Mrs. and Miss Cameron; fruit and vegetables, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. Laing, Miss Douglas; candy, Mrs. Guy and the C. G. I. T.; home-cooking, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Hibberson, Mrs. Hallam; bargain counter, Miss Thomson, Mrs. Victor Leigh; ice cream, Mrs. Wrigleswerth, Mrs. Champlin. Tea was served in the dining-room under the direction of Mesdames McEwan, Northam, Crimp, Hunt, W. H. Mitchell, McGibbon, Haddow, Fox and Miss Harris.

ST. MICHAEL'S W. A. HELD GARDEN FETE

Owing to the very unsettled state of the weather, the garden party planned to be held in Mrs. Grant's garden Wednesday, August 31, in connection with St. Michael's W. A. had to be hurriedly transferred into the concert hall, which had been most tastefully decorated with flowers and flags. Mrs. Quainton, in a few well chosen words, pronounced the fete opened, and the ice cream and home cooking stalls were soon surrounded by eager buyers. A very dainty and enjoyable tea was served by the members.

It was a great pleasure to all present to take this opportunity of meeting and welcoming the new vicar, the Rev. A. Nixon, who has come to take charge of the parish. The proceeds of the fete, amounting to about $30, goes toward the W. A. work.

The W. A. members wish to take this opportunity of thanking everyone who so willingly gave their time and services to make this affair the success it was.

The junior W. A. held a very busy grab table, and soon disposed of their pretty goods.

FOR LIGHTHOUSE KEEPERS

Ladies' Guild for Sailors Plan to Send Usual Christmas Hampers.

Although four months have to elapse before Christmas, the Ladies' Guild for Sailors is already considering arrangements for the sending of the annual Christmas boxes to lighthouse keepers and their families in the lonely lighthouses around Vancouver Island. Owing to the inaccessibility of some of the lighthouses and the long intervals elapsing between the visits of the boats to these stations, hampers to arrive in time for Christmas must leave Victoria not later than the first week in November.

At the meeting of the Guild held at the Connaught Seaman's Institute yesterday preliminary plans were made for the Winter's work. In order to give the public an opportunity of contributing gifts to these hampers for the guardians of our lonely coasts, a silver tea and shower will be held on Thursday, October 6, for the receipt of suitable gifts.

FOR CHILDREN

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

A WEDDING IN PINE TREE VALLEY—Part II.

The guests were being seated by the ushers, the young Frogs, who were all dressed in their best green suits and white waistcoats and, of course, each had on white gloves and a white flower on his coat, and handsomer ushers it would have been hard to find.

Mr. Jar Fly began tuning up and soon the orchestra burst forth with the wedding march and two lovely yellow butterflies flew lightly over the bank by the pond and began to sprinkle tiny flowers for the bride to walk on.

Then came pretty little Sally Frog, the maid of honor, and at last Jenny Frog, the bride, appeared leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. B. Frog, who was so puffed up with pride that the guests were afraid he would burst his white vest.

"Mrs. Darning Needle did know how to arange Jenny's veil," whispered Miss Cricket to Mrs. Mouse. "I was afraid she would be so old fashioned that she would spoil Jenny's costume."

"Trust Mrs. Darning Needle for knowing all about the latest fashions," said Mrs. Mouse. "She makes every thrust of her needle show its work."

Parson Beetle, with his black book in hand, was waiting beneath the pine tree for the wedding party, and two handsome young frogs held a big lilly pad parasol over them, so the rays of the sun peeping through the tree branches would not shine in their eyes.

"Don't begin yet," suddenly buzzed a big bee, flying over the heads o' every one and behaving in a manner most impolite. "Here comes old Mrs. Snail, puffing up the hill. She will miss the wedding if you don't wait."

No one wanted to have old Mrs. Snail miss anything, so the Ant boys rushed away in their wagon to bring her the rest of the way.

"That is the first time I ever knew that noisy Bee fellow to do anything sensible," buzzed Miss Wasp, who never failed to use her sharp tongue. "His mother should teach him better manners."

"He really does not mean any harm, poor fellow, said gentle Miss Caterpillar. "You see, this is the first time he was ever at a wedding and, anyway he was thinking about old Auntie Snail. He knew she would be so disappointed not to see Jenny married."

By this time, Mrs. Snail was helped out of the Ant boys' wagon and given a seat in the very front row, and Parson Beetle soon changed Miss Jenny Frog's name to Mrs. Blily Frog and all the guests rushed up to wish them joy.

The wedding gifts were numerous and of many kinds, though, as Miss Wasp said. "Why anyone gave Jenny Frog a silk umbrella she could not think, when Jenny did not mind the water and in fact, would rather be wet than not."

And then came that wonderful supper when everyone ate all they wanted and a little more. "But we had to do something," said Miss Wasp, talking it over the next day with some of her friends, "for when that frog quartet began to sing you could not hear a word anyone said, so we just had to eat."

After supper there was a dance until the sun had gone out of sight over the hill and one bright star peeped out of the sky, and everybody voted it the nicest wedding they had ever attended and said that Jenny Frog was the prettiest bride.

"They always say that about the bride," snapped Miss Wasp as she flew away.

"Poor Miss Wasp," said gentle Mrs. Caterpillar, "I was afraid we do not treat her kindly enough or she would never make such stinging remarks."

BAROMETER AND MINE GAS.

Greater Output Obtained by Increasing Air When Pressure is Low.

The relationship between barometric pressure and mine gases is pointed out by J. Cecil Alter in a communication to the United States Weather Bureau. In 1917, he says an engineer of the Bureau of Mines made a record over a period of eight months of the appearance of an unusual gas in a number of the precious metal mines near Eureka, Utah. The occurrence of the gas was associated invariably with a fall of barometric pressure. The gas appeared a few hours and endured until the barometer began to rise. Another investigation covering a similar period, in which many more gas analysis and barometric readings were made, has just been completed by G. E. McElroy.

His conclusion is that the gas, which is extremely heavy (a mixture of carbon dioxide and nitrogen) and which will extinguish a light within an inch of the same level repeatedly, is contained in a reservoir in a fractured stratum of rock and escapes into the mine workings with a falling or low barometer, except during the minor or more rapid falls, which would not allow the gas to escape through the fissures before the rise in the barometer occurs. The ventilating fans serve to work the gas out of the tunnels. It has been the practice to send the hoisting skip into the mine carrying a carbide lamp to test for gas before sending any workmen in.

Mr. Alter was told by a retired mine owner that for many years while operating a deep mine at Butte, Mont., he regulated the speed of his ventilating fans by the barometer which he kept at the top of the shaft. He said that he secured a greater production per man by increasing the amount of air pumped in to the men when the barometer was low.

Returning from the funeral, Widow Smith, in tears, to her sympathetic neighbor, Mrs. Brown: "My pore, pore ole Bill, he were a very good 'usbin to me."

Mrs. Brown: "Yes, I knows he was. He was quite a pre-war 'usbin'"

Board of Trade Meets.

Shawnigan Lake, Sept. 1.—The half-yearly meeting of the Duncan Board of Trade was held in the S. L. A. A. Hall last evening. This is a departure from holding the meeting in Duncan. In future the quarterly meetings will be held at one of the branch boards. There was a very large attendance, between sixty and seventy members coming from Duncan, Chemainus, Cowichan Lake, Cobble Hill, Cowichan Bay, Mill Bay and Cowichan Station.

A picnic had been arranged for, to take place on the Strathcona grounds, but the showery weather prevented the up-island members from attending. The meeting was called for 8 p.m. Chemainus sent its entire membership, who traveled in a sightseeing car. Duncan, the headquarters, had a very representative contingent, while Shawnigan members turned out in full force. Several ladies were present and took a critical interest in the proceedings. Hugh Savage, the president, occupied the chair. The first business was reports from the various committees, and showed a wide range of subjects dealt with. It was evident from the correspondence that the Board has established itself as a very important factor in the development of the Cowichan district and Vancouver Island generally. The question of a change of name from Duncan Board of Trade to Cowichan Board of Trade brought forth a very heated discussion, and it was finally decided to submit the question to a plebiscite of the entire membership of the Board by getting the answer "yes" or "no" to the query: "Are you in favor of a change of name?" To many present it seemed unfair to drop the name of Duncan, who are really responsible for the existence of the Board. Twelve new members were balloted for and declared elected.

After the meeting the members were invited to partake of a bountiful supper provided by the ladies of Shawnigan and Cobble Hill. The president, Hugh Savage, spoke appreciatively of the warm welcome extended by Shawnigan. Dr. Kerr and Mr. Paterson, who represented the Board at the recent meeting at Alberni, gave an interesting account of the work accomplished there.

Kenneth Duncan, M.P.P., proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies and spoke in glowing terms of the recent trip of the Government party over the P. G. E., saying, "We have an empire within an empire, with possibilities unlimited." The visiting members passed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Shawnigan branch for their hospitality, and ended the session with "God Save the King."

To Close Hotel.

Chemainus—The travelling public will regret to hear that the Lewisville Hotel is shortly to be closed. Under the management of Mrs. A. Howe for the last three years, the hotel has been noted throughout the Island.

Labor Day Sports.

South Wellington—A big programme of sports has been arranged to take place at Liberty Park, South Wellington, next Monday, Labor Day. First of all there will be a big parade commencing at 9 a. m., headed by the South Wellington Brass Band. Then will come football contests, quoiting contests and ladies' and children's sports.

Killed by Logs.

Crofton—Reginald Estridge, of this place lost his life while preparing a boom of logs. In some manner the unfortunate man did not notice four large logs on the skidway, which broke loose and came down the embankment, striking Mr. Estridge and killing him almost instantly. Dr. Inglis, of Chemainus, was called, but his services were of no avail. The late Mr. Estridge was 24 years of age. He leaves to mourn his loss besides his young wife, his father and mother, of Somenos; two sisters, Kathleen at home, and Margaret, of Vancouver; eight brothers, J. J., Dorchester, England; A. W., Chemainus; C. H., Los Angeles, Cal.; Allen Saskatoon; G. C., Hubert and Hughy, all at home, and Augustus. The funeral took place from Phair's funeral parlors, Duncan, on Monday, August 29 at 2 p. m., proceeding to St. Mary's Cemetery, Somenos. The Rev. A. Bischlager officiated. A large number of relatives and friends were in attendance. The floral offerings were beautiful. He was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Duncan.

Duncan Personals.

Duncan — Mr. Dennis Ashby, Quamichan Lake, left yesterday for England. It is rumored that he will not return alone, but that a former favorite of this district will come with him as his bride.

Campers Return.

Most of the campers at Maple Bay have now returned to their homes in and around Duncan, the inclement weather and the nearness of school opening being responsible. Among these are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Duncan and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Mutter and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carr-Hilton and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Mutter and family, Mrs. Paitson and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Carbery and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Crane and son, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hills, Capt. and Mrs. Williams and family.

Mr. Biggerstaff Wilson of Victoria, and Mr. Taylor, the professional of the Oak Bay golf links have kindly promised to visit Duncan today to give advice on the laying out of the new golf course there.

Alberni Personals.

Alberni—Mr. Walker, of the firm of R. G. MacIntyre and family returned this week from a trip to Victoria.

Mr. O. Maston, of the Montreal Bank, who has been spending his holiday in Victoria returned on Tuesday.

Mrs. George Smith and son Gordon, of Victoria, who have been the guests of Mrs. M. M. Stevens, returned home to-day.

Mr. F. C. Birks, manager of the Royal Bank, is expected to return today after spending his holidays in Okanagan.

Owing to continual rainy weather many of the visitors who are attending the different conferences have been unable to take in side excursions to the lakes, down the canal and other points of interest.

Not only the youth and beauty of Alberni attended the grand ball in large numbers at Port Alberni, given in honor of the visiting delegates, but a number of happy grandparents joined the procession. It was interesting to notice that these older couples were quite at home in the dance hall and took part in all the latest steps of the "light fantastic." The hall was a brilliant success, and the large number present were unanimous in declaring it the most enjoyable social function for many years.

Those people who think the Indians of the coast very indolent with little push, would be surprised to see the large number of the red race who are leaving Alberni district to assist in the annual Fall hop gathering in the state of Washington. On Tuesday 150 Indians were passengers on the outgoing train bound for this district.

MEXICO AND U. S.

Mexico City, Sept. 1.—The signing of a treaty with the United States is "neither possible, convenient, nor necessary, and is contrary to Mexican constitutional precepts, in that it would create special privilege for Americans," according to a portion of President Obregon's message to Congress dealing with foreign relations which was read in the House to-night.

The Woman Hater

By RUBY M. AYRES

Author of "The One Who Forgot," "The Phantom Lover," "A Bachelor Husband," Etc.

"You mean she had changed so—had grown ugly?"

Miles laughed grimly.

"She had not altered at all," he said. "In fact, I could hardly believe that so many years had passed since she wiped her shoes on me and walked away. No; I am afraid the change was in myself. I was simply indifferent to her, that is all."

Tranter looked up from the wine-list which he had been studying. He rather fancied himself as an epicure.

"What are you two talking about?" he asked vaguely. He looked at Mrs. Dundas, and his eyes grew concerned. "Are you ill? Is the room too warm for you?" he asked. "You are so pale."

She forced a smile, shaking her charming head.

"I am always pale. No, I am quite well, thank you, and enjoying myself immensely. Philip, you never told me how amusing Mr. Faversham could be."

"I knew you'd like one another," Philip said enthusiastically. "Why not come on with us to the concert afterwards, Miles? We shall be delighted to have you, eh, Lallie?"

"Delighted—there is a third ticket. Will you come?" She turned to Faversham with pretty eagerness.

She was vain enough to resent his attitude towards her. She hated to feel that her power over him was gone.

The boy she had played with and then thrown aside years ago had grown into a fine enough man. She recognized the fact reluctantly. She liked the steadiness of his eyes and the hard fold of his lips. Here was a man whose conquest would be a thing to hold secure for ever. Beside him, Philip Tranter seemed uninteresting. Surely it was Fate that had thrown Miles back into her life, and who still had a card to play in the game she had believed finished all those years ago.

"Do come with us, won't you?" she urged softly.

Faversham shook his head.

"Thanks, I think not. Concerts are not in my line, as Philip will tell you. Besides, I've got an engagement; some other night, perhaps."

He was thankful when the dinner was ended and he was free to go. He felt restless and unnatural in this woman's presence. It was as if some hand were dragging him back to the past, and forcing him to open the graves of memories long dead and buried. And he did not wish to open them. The past was over and done with; this woman was nothing to him any more.

"Who's the engagement with, old top?" Tranter asked him as they waited in the vestibule for a taxi.

He was quite happy again. He was glad Miles had refused to accompany them to the concert, although he had given the invitation. Mrs. Dundas's hand was through his arm for all the world to see, and he glanced down at her with proud ownership as he asked his question.

"It's only Parry," Miles answered indifferently. "He called in at my rooms just as I was leaving, and I arranged to see him later."

Mrs. Dundas raised her brown eyes quickly, a sudden gleam in them. "Mr. Parry!" she echoed. "Is that the Mr. Parry we know, Philip?"

Miles frowned. The whole affair was getting on his nerves. He was quite sure that this woman had no intention of marrying his friend, and the impulse came to him then and there to challenge her with the fact and to tell Philip what he himself knew.

"Yes, Bob Parry," Tranter answered. "He—oh, you've got a taxi, have you?" The commissionaire had approached.

"I'll say good-night," Faversham said quickly. He was relieved that at last he could go. He shook hands with Mrs. Dundas.

"I am so pleased to have met you," she murmured.

Miles said "Thanks," rather dryly, and turned to Philip.

"See you soon," he said. "Good-night." He went down the steps to the street and walked away in the darkness.

So that was over! He took off his hat and bared his forehead to the cool, damp air.

After ten years she had smiled at him again. He had seen her and spoken to her, and she had not changed, and yet . . yet . . she had not been able to touch his heart.

Once such friendliness from her would have set his blood on fire. Once he would have lain awake all night to think of her. Was he growing old that he had so changed, or was it that he was completely cured of his old adoration?

It must be that, he supposed. Time had proved itself a wonderful healer.

He turned in at the club and found Parry half asleep by the fire. He woke him up and gave him a cigar.

"It's one of Tranter's: never smoke 'em myself. Did we have a good dinner? Oh, yes: Marnio's always do you well."

He sat down in an armchair opposite to him.

Parry yawned, only half awake.

"Did you see the fair Lallie?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Well—what do you think of her?" Miles looked up.

"What do you know of her?" he asked evasively.

Young Parry laughed rather self-consciously.

"Oh, not much. She had a studio in Paris some years ago, when I was studying there. We both rather fancied ourselves as portrait painters at the time, and we've both grown older and wiser since."

"Yes," said Faversham, and a faint smile curved his hard lips as he remembered how Mrs. Dundas had once told him—years ago—that she meant to make a great name for herself as an artist.

Well, she had made the name, perhaps, but not as an artist, although in those days he had believed her capable of anything wonderful.

"How long ago was that?" he asked.

Parry considered. "Oh! five or six years, I suppose." He laughed reminiscently. "We were both as poor as church mice in those days. If she had any luck she used to ask me to supper, and if I had any I used to ask her—chiefly cocoa and welsh rabbit, I remember." He paused.

"Go on; I'm interested," said Miles. "By the way, she wasn't Lallie Dundas, then, I suppose?"

"We all called her Lallie. She would never tell any one what her real name was; said she was a black sheep or something, and that her family had washed their hands of her when she insisted on having a career. Career, by gad!" he laughed mockingly. "Poor kid! She was about as fit to face the world alone then as—as a white mouse."

"She seems fairly capable now, however," said Miles dryly.

Parry looked at him sharply.

"I'm speaking of years ago," he said. "A lot can happen in six years, you know."

"Yes, it can. Well, and then she married, I suppose?"

"I suppose so, but I don't really know the truth of that. Dundas used to be always hanging round in my time. Old enough to be her father, he was; rich and fat, and everything which by all the laws of nature she ought to have hated. He fancied himself a connoisseur of art, and used to poke about studios trying to discover budding Botticellis. I don't know that he ever found any, but that's a detail. Of course, he was always keen on Lallie, but she only laughed when I spoke of it to her. All the men were keen on her—I was myself. Perhaps I am still; I don't know. I've never met a woman to touch her, anyway."

Faversham looked up sharply.

"Are you serious?" he asked.

"Serious! Of course I am. Don't you think she's a beauty? Did you ever see such eyes—such a smile?"

Miles rose to his feet. He bent over the grate, making a great business of knocking the ashes from his pipe.

"Do you think she means to marry Philip?" he asked, speaking with his back turned.

Parry shrugged his shoulders.

"Heaven only knows. He says she will."

Faversham turned. He put his shoulders against the mantelshelf and stared up at the ceiling.

"If he were your brother or your best friend," he said, "would you be satisfied to see him married to Mrs. Dundas?"

Parry scratched his chin.

"Well, it all depends," he said guardedly. "There's nothing actually against her."

"Do you mean that?"

Parry colored a little.

"I've heard things, of course—every one has."

"But you don't believe them. Is that it?"

Parry did not answer for a moment. He took the cigar from his lips and stared at its glowing end interestedly.

"Well, Tranter means to marry her," he said at last, awkwardly. "And I don't see who's going to stop it."

SECURE SITE FOR CHINESE MISSION

Presbytery Is Informed of the Purchase

The Rev. W. L. Macrae, on behalf of the Foreign mission reported to the Victoria Presbytery yesterday the purchase of a site at the corner of Blanshard and Fisgard Streets at a cost of $4,000 to be used as a mission for the Chinese, to do away with premises now rented.

Charles E. Motte, missionary among the fishermen at Barclay Sound, was successful in his application for permission to take a course at Westminster Hall.

The Rev. Joseph McCoy reported irregularities among the congregations and presbytery in church affairs, and urged all to stand by the regulations closer than had been in practice.

The Presbytery endorsed a project of the Westminster Hall to raise $2,000 for a Student War Memorial.

Dr. G. L. Milne expressed the satisfaction felt by the Presbytery at the decision of the Privy Council in the Church Taxation case. The motion in favor was carried by an overwhelming majority, only two voting against.

The Rev. D. Walker, convener of the social service committee, urged all members to use their influence in combatting existing evils in the community.

There were a number of further calls before the Presbytery. Rev. Thos. McConnell, of St. Columba Church, Oak Bay, asked for a month to consider the call from that congregation, but the Presbytery made provisional arrangements for the induction, Rev. David Lister, of Nanaimo, being appointed to preside and induct, while others taking part in the ceremony will be Rev. W. L. Macrae, Rev. Joseph McCoy and Dr. Clay.

Rev. J. A. Rowland, of Union Bay, presented a unanimous call from Sandwick and Courtenay in favor of Rev. Walter T. Beattie, of the Presbytery of Winnipeg. The call was sustained and forwarded to the Presbytery of Winnipeg for action. Provisional arrangements were made for the induction of Mr. Beattie, Principal McKay, who is now in Winnipeg, being appointed to look after the interests of the Presbytery of Victoria when the call is under consideration.

Appoint Deaconess.

The Presbytery also approved the application from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Nanaimo, for the appointment of a deaconess. From the same source came an application for permission to create a new mission field adjacent to Nanaimo.

Rev. T. W. Fry, who has done excellent work as Presbyterian missionary on Pender Island for a number of years, is retiring at the end of the month from active work.

Among the visitors to the Presbytery was Rev. Dr. Gray, of Toronto, also Rev. Dr. D. D. Munro, of Kansas City, Missouri.

The Presbytery arranged for a "Presbyterial" of all congregations on the Island some time this Autumn. A request was received from the president of the Victoria Presbyterial for the co-operation on September 18 of all ministers in an undertaking to call attention to the work of the Women's Missionary Society. The meeting promised hearty support.

Before adjourning the Presbytery nominated Rev. D. N. MacLachlan, B. D., as Field Secretary of the Board of Evangelism for the position of educational secretary for the General Board.

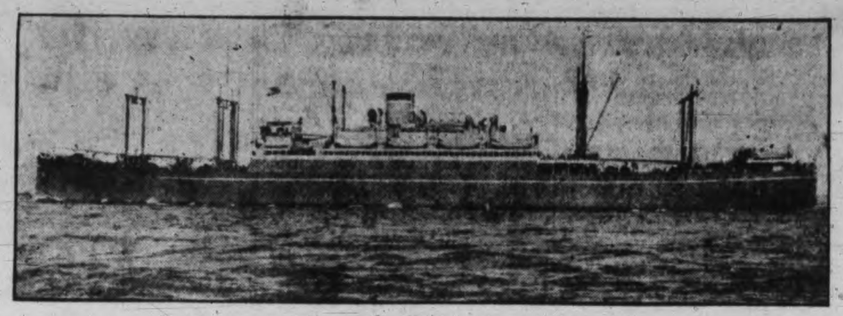
SHIPPING NEWS FROM DAY TO DAY

S. S. Silver State Makes Good Showing on Her Maiden Voyage



S.S. SILVER STATE MADE FAST RUN

Admiral Liner Completes Her Maiden Voyage to the Far East

The American liner Silver State completed her round maiden voyage to the Far East last night when she made port after a fast passage of ten days from Yokohama. Capt. E. P. Bartlett, commander of the Silver State, was greatly pleased with the fine performance of his ship and predicts even better steaming time when the engines shake down. The last day's run was 442 miles.

The Silver State brought in fifty-three saloon passengers. A prominent traveler was Judge Charles Summer Lobingier, of Omaha, Nebraska, who is returning home from Manila. Judge Lobingier is a noted American jurist who has been actively associated with the administration of the Philippine Islands.

The majority of the travelers by the Silver State were Americans returning to the United States by way of Seattle. There were about one hundred Asiatics in the steerage, forty-four of whom disembarked here.

The Silver State put ashore here a shipment of 300 bales of raw silk, which E. G. McMicken, general passenger agent for the Admiral Line at Seattle, says constitutes an experimental shipment via the Canadian route. The special silk shipment was sent over to Vancouver by the night boat and forwarded over the C. P. R. to New York. The fastest silk route across the continent is sought, and the fastest route will get the bulk of the silk carried by the Admiral Line ships, Mr. McMicken says.

The Silver State cleared from this port last night for Seattle.

EMPIRE SHIPPING BOARD SUGGESTED

London, Sept. 2.—The report of the Imperial Shipping Committee, just made public, recommends the substitution of an imperial shipping board for the committee as at present constituted.

According to the report, the shipping board would inquire into complaints regarding ocean reight rates and conditions of inter-Empire trade which, from time to time would be referred to the board by the various Governments of the Empire for a decision. The board would also exercise its power of conciliation between inter-imperial shipping and promote co-ordination in regard to harbors and other facilities necessary for the development of inter-Empire shipping.

The committee recommends that the chairman of the board should be paid, and that there should be six representatives on the board who would act for the shipping and commercial interests of the whole Empire.

It is suggested that rotation of these representatives among the Dominions of the Empire could be arranged. The committee thinks the board should be incorporated by royal charter. It estimates that the total expenses in connection with the functioning of the board would not exceed a few thousand pounds sterling, which, the report says, could be met by agreed contributions from each part of the Empire.

HAKONE MARU WILL BE ELECTRIC SHIP

Electrical Equipment on N. Y. K.'s Newest Liner Will Be Prominent Feature

The Hakone Maru, first of three modern liners built in Japan for European trade, will be the finest merchant ship that has yet been turned out by Japanese shipyards, according to Capt. M. Machida, commander of the N. Y. K. liner Suwa Maru, in port yesterday from the Orient.

In tonnage and general design the Hakone Maru will be practically a sister ship to the liner Katori Maru, plying in the Victoria trade, but will embody all the most modern improvements known to the shipbuilding art.

She is known in Japan as "the electric ship." While electricity plays no part in her propulsive power, the Hakone Maru will be fitted with everything in the shape of electrical equipment, even to electric ranges in the ship's galley.

She will also be fitted with large refrigerating space for the handling of cold storage products in the European trade. Australian frozen beef and mutton, Capt. Machida says, may be handled by these new liners. The cold storage cargo would be shipped from Australia by the regular Australian ships of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha to Yokohama or Hongkong, and transhipped at these ports for distribution at various ports touched at en route to Europe.

The Hakone Maru is named after the famous hot springs near Tokio.

Salvage Men Expect Disabled Ship Will Be Brought to Esquimalt

S. S. Algerine, Now Alongside Canadian Importer, Can Remain at Sea Indefinitely and Is Equipped With Every Facility For Keeping Waterlogged Ship Afloat.

Now that the Algerine is alongside the S. S. Canadian Importer, salvage officials here are satisfied that the disabled freighter will be brought safely to port. At the Pacific Salvage Company's offices to-day it was stated that undoubtedly an attempt would be made to locate the source of the leak, patch her up, pump out the waterlogged ship as she lay on the high seas. It was emphatically stated that it would be an utter impossibility to tow the vessel if she is hulled down. It would be too dangerous, and if at all feasible, not more than two or three knots could be made.

Floating Machine Shop.

The Algerine is equipped for every marine emergency, and particularly for an emergency of this kind. She is "self-contained," for besides being a floating machine shop she is equipped with everything in the shape of pumps and gear to get a disabled hull in shape for proper towage to port.

The Algerine is an oil-burner with a steaming radius of 10,000 miles. Her tanks have a fuel storage capacity of 2,000 barrels of fuel oil. Steaming at eight knots she burns 30 barrels of oil per day, and steaming at twelve knots she consumes 80 barrels per day. She is provisioned to remain at sea for an indefinite period.

Esquimalt Logical Port.

Whatever decision is reached as to the best manner of salvage, the Canadian Importer will undoubtedly be brought to Esquimalt, as to tow her approximately 900 miles to Esquimalt would be no more difficult feat than to tow her approximately 600 miles to San Francisco.

Salvage officials here are confident that, providing it is possible to erect the powerful gasoline pumps at a high point above decks, the engine-room can be pumped sufficiently clear to get at the trouble and counteract the leak.

Two divers are carried by the Algerine and these experts have been known to go over the side in any weather and make good at their trade. Special equipment for lowering divers in heavy weather is carried by the Algerine and a plentiful supply of air is guaranteed by her compressors.

May Get Steam Up.

In the event of the salvage crew getting the water down and the leak temporarily patched up the chances of the Canadian Importer coming into port under her own steam are distinctly good. That would be the most satisfactory way of bringing in the vessel, and if the conditions are favorable, that is the course that will be adopted, it is stated by the salvage men.

In the event of slow progress being made, it is probable that either the Canadian Observer or the Canadian Winner will come to Victoria with the survivors while the salvage ship stands by the disabled ship.

LINER NIAGARA IS NEARING PORT

The Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara is due to reach port from the Antipodes by to-morrow night, but the exact time of her arrival in quarantine is indefinite. She previously reported arrival at William Head at 11 o'clock Saturday night. In that event she will remain outside overnight and come to her berth Sunday morning.

LUMBER MOVEMENT TO ORIENT VERY BRISK

Big Shipments Going Out by Protesilaus, Prespector and Other Vessels

Vancouver, Sept. 2 — The lumber movement from British Columbia to the Orient and especially to Japan, is still maintaining its activity. The Blue Funnel liner Protesilaus is loading 2,000,000 feet, the Canadian Prospector will probably sail on Saturday with over 3,000,000 feet, and the Canadian Commercial Company reported that it had chartered the Mitsuki Maru for early September loading of a full cargo of lumber, logs and general. She will take 2,500,000 feet. The Struthers and Dixon steamship West Ivis is due shortly to load 750,000 feet for Japan.

HERE'S ANOTHER

Here's the way a Vancouver dispatch sizes up distances:

"The Importer, whose engines and wireless have been out of commission for over a fortnight, is now at a spot approximately 600 miles from the nearest shore. It is 970 miles from Esquimalt, the nearest Canadian port. For this reason, the derelict may be taken to Seattle or San Francisco for repairs."

APPEAL AGAINST SUSPENSION LOST BY CAPT. ALWEN

Master of West Hartland That Rammed the Governor Must Abide by Decision

Seattle, Sept. 2.—Suspension of Capt. John Alwen's license as a master mariner for two years as a result of the disaster in which the freighter West Hartland rammed and sank the passenger liner Governor April 1, is sustained in a decision received from George Uhler, supervising inspector-general of the United States Steamboat Inspection Service in Washington, D. C. Captain Alwen's license was suspended for two years by Capt. William Fisher, supervising inspector of the inspection service for Washington and Alaska, in a decision handed down in July. Captain Alwen then appealed to the supervising inspector-general.

Captain Alwen was master of the West Hartland at the time of the disaster which occurred off Point Wilson at the entrance of Puget Sound. He is represented by F. C. Reagan, assistant United States attorney.

The case is regarded as one of the most important in the steamboat inspection service in recent years because of a number of features.

Had Right of Way.

Captain Alwen's ship had the right of way under the rules of the sea. In the appeal, Attorney Reagan contended that Captain Fisher had stepped outside his jurisdiction in trying the case against Captain Alwen.

Shortly after the disaster, the local board of the Steamship Inspection Service, composed of H. C. Lord and Captain Donald S. Ames, preferred charges against Captain Harry Marden, Puget Sound pilot, in charge of the Governor at the time. After a trial on the charges, the local board suspended Captain Marden's license for one year and exonerated Captain Alwen on the theory that Alwen's ship had the right of way and therefore had only to keep her course and speed. Captain Marden filed an appeal to Captain Fisher's office, but died before it came to an issue.

In the meantime, Captain Fisher had begun an investigation into the West Hartland's part in the disaster and as a result filed charges of negligence, unskillfulness and inattention to duty against Captain Alwen. Captain Fisher conducted the resultant trial and found Captain Alwen guilty, suspending his license for two years. The defence contended that Captain Fisher could take up the case onyl on appeal from the local board which had exonerated Captain Alwen. The decision from Washington, however, upholds Captain Fisher's power to make an investigation, file charges and conduct the trial in such cases.

Rule of Prudence Invoked.

Captain Fisher held that Captain Alwen saw the Governor nine minutes before the collision and was in doubt as to what the Governor would do and expressed his doubt in statements to the men on the West Hartland's bridge. Captain Fisher invoked the rude of prudence which precedes the rule on the right of way in the sea regulations. The rule of prudence applies before ships get into close quarters. Under that rule he held, it was Captain Alwen's duty to sound the danger signal even if he did have the right of way. Being in doubt, it was held, Captain Alwen should have signalled with his whistle in order to ascertain what the Governor was about to do.

The decision from Washington sustains Captain Fisher's decision as in accordance with the testimony and upholds his right to try the case as in accordance with law.

SHIP MAFALDA IS BEING OVERHAULED

Former Norwegian Vessel Turned Over to Yarrows, Ltd., of Esquimalt

The full-rigged ship Mafalda has been hauled out on the marine ways at Yarrows, Ltd., for cleaning and painting, and before the vessel starts to load the Sir John Jackson plant for delivery in the United Kingdom, she will undergo needed repairs at the Esquimalt shipyard.

The Mafalda was acquired by the big British engineering and construction firm of Sir John Jackson from F. Berg, of Porsgrund, Norway, the deal being arranged by Capt. H. C. Hansen, of Seattle and Victoria, representing her owners.

Under the command of Capt. J. Borgersen, the Mafalda made her last passage from Norway with a cargo of nitrate from Europe for Hawaii, and after discharging crossed the Pacific from Honolulu to Port Townsend.

The ship arrived here last week-end from Port Townsend and berthed at the Ogden Point docks, from which point she was towed this week to Esquimalt.

On completing overhaul and repairs, the Mafalda will again shift to the Government docks here to commence loading the Sir John Jackson plant and material.

It is expected that the hatches of the Mafalda will have to be enlarged to permit the lowering of construction locomotives, steam cranes and other cumbersome gear into the ship's hold.

A Real Bean Contest.—The magnificent beans to which allusion was made yesterday have stirred other horticulturalists, and "Bill" Berryman brought to The Times office today beans 13 inches long from 701 Vancouver Street. Mr. Berryman is naturally proud of his crop. The Gardeners' Association extends an invitation to exhibitors, through one of its executive, to show at the Victoria Fair, when some fine examples of the succulent vegetable will be on display.

Theosophical Society.— Public activities will be resumed by the Victoria Lodge in their rooms, 101 Union Bank Building on Friday, September 9, at 8 p. m., when the theosophical study class will begin with W. Q. Judges's "Ocean of Theosophy" to be followed later by Blavatsky's "Secret Doctrine." The class is free and open to the public and a cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to understand more fully the laws of life. The first public lecture will be given on Sunday, September 11, subject to be announced later.

Building Progress.—According to figures announced yesterday by Building Inspector Barff, the August building statistics for the city are considerably better than for some months past, the total being $67,534. With the exception of $5,000 for reconstruction of the old Commercial Hotel into banking quarters for the Canadian Bank of Commerce, $5,575 divided between a number of small garages and repair jobs, a $5,000 storage building for J. Kingham, and a $1,500 recreation hall for Fairfield Methodist Church, all this construction is divided between 21 dwellings in various portions of the city, a majority being in the Fairfield district, the average permit being $2,333 each.

Indian Hop Harvesters Leave. — Yesterday saw the departure of about 350 Indians for the Washington hopfields, these being the final contingent of about 700 members of the Island tribes to cross. Reports indicate that the harvest is this year heavy, and the Indians expect to profit handsomely, as they will receive $1.25 per box from the growers. Most of the families will be employed in the Puyallup and Yakima districts. Dominion Indian Constable Thomas O'Connell, of Nanaimo, was in the city yesterday to supervise the departure of his charges. Vagaries of monetary exchange appeared to have no mysteries for the Indians, many of them spending much time in securing the transference of Canadian currency into American funds. Considerable comment was made as to the excellent appearance of the natives.

Spinal Chair Appeal.—In reference to the case of P. C. Thompson, ex-soldier patient of the Central Private Hospital, Fernwood Road, who in a letter to The Times yesterday appealed for help in obtaining a spinal chair, inquiry by a Times representative at the S. C. R. this morning elicited the information that a chair has been obtained for Mr. Thompson and is being delivered at the hospital to-day for his use. The delay in delivery was occasioned owing to changes to suit the particular needs of Mr. Thompson's case having to be made to the chair in the S. C. R. workshops. Mr. Thompson is a helpless cripple, having been confined to his bed for the past six years as a result of injuries to the spine caused during war service, and the chair should prove of invaluable assistance in permitting him to obtain fresh air and a change of scene.

ST. JAMES'S SECURES NEW CLERGYMAN

Rev. A. E. Gledhill Is Licensed to St. James's Parish

Rev. Adolphus E. Gledhill, M. A., late exhibitioner of Gonville & Caius College, Cambridge, has been temporarily licensed to St. James's Church by Bishop Schofield.

Mr. Gledhill was ordained Deacon in 1898 and Priest in 1899 by Archbishop Maclean in York Minster. He was formerly Vicar of Borden, Kent, 1907-1917, and in the last named year was offered the living of S. Thomas's Coventry by the then Bishop of Worcester, who later was translated to the new see of Coventry. It was a large parish of 20,000 people and containing a parish church and two conventional district parishes. He resigned at Whitsuntide of this year and came to British Columbia on account of his son's health.

Mr. Gledhill will preach at the morning and evening services on Sunday next. A pressing invitation is given to all communicants to make an earnest endeavor to attend the 8 o'clock holy communion service to ask divine blessing on the ministry and work of the parish.

BLAINE EXCURSION PROVES POPULAR

Tickets Available at Drug Stores; Preparations on Scene

Although tickets for the excursion to the Peace Centenary celebration at Blaine on Tuesday have been on sale less than forty-eight hours, the Chamber of Commerce has already sold nearly a hundred, with a constant procession of participants calling at the offices in the Arcade Building all this morning.

The Victoria and Island Development Association also reports a steady demand, and there is every expectation that the excursion will be one of the most popular ever arranged in this city.

The low fare conceded by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the trip on the Princess Patricia has been freely commented upon by those securing tickets, while the courtesy of the company in taking the speedy flyer off her regular run for the convenience of the people of Victoria is even more appreciated.

Starting this afternoon, and continuing until Monday evening, practically all the down-town drug stores are joining in the sale of tickets, in order that the convenience of intending excursion parties may be met to the utmost.

Because of the strategic location of these stores, it is now possible for those requiring tickets to obtain them at practically every street intersection of the downtown district, the stores co-operating in the sale being as follows:

Aaronson's Drug Store, Fort and Cook; Bowes's Drug Store, Government and View; H. W. Brien, Government Street; D. E. Campbell, Fort and Douglas; John Cochrane, Douglas Street; Dean and Hiscocks, Yates and Broad; Hall & Co., Douglas and Yates; Ivel's Pharmacy, View and Douglas; Merryfield & Dack, Dominion Hotel; Terry's Drug Store, Fort and Douglas; Williams's Drug Store, Government and View.

To Exhibit Relics.

Important ceremonies in connection with the invaluable relics which are to be incorporated in the Peace Arch will take place here on Monday afternoon, these being expected to rank as one of the most interested functions marking Labor Day.

The relics are portions of the famous Mayflower, of historic interest as the ship from whence landed the Pilgrim Fathers on their arrival at Plymouth Rock in 1620, and a priceless fragment of the wonderful old Hudson's Bay Company steamer Beaver, the first steamer to sail the Pacific after completing her seven months journey from England as a sailing ship.

The relics will arrive from Seattle in a strong box on Monday afternoon, being accompanied and guarded by a distinguished company of members of the Pacific Highway Association, including Samuel Hill. The ceremonies planned will take place upon the steps of the Parliament Buildings, and will include addresses by Premier Oliver and Mayor R. J. Porter.

On the arrival of the relics they will be placed in the custody of four members of the city police force, who will carry the strong box to the steps of the buildings, the band of the Naval Brigade leading the way. The addresses and other ceremonies will commence at 3 o'clock, and will be completed in time to allow of the return of the relics to the Mainland by the afternoon steamer to Seattle.

To Transmit Speeches.

Modern sound transmission apparatus will carry the speaker's words within hearing of all sections of the great assembly which, it is expected, will gather at that international event.

On Saturday, R. G. Shrader, managing director of the Wonderphone Company of New Westminster, met Mr. Paul J. Hackett, chief engineer of the Universal High Power Telephone Company of Seattle, and arranged for the installation of the necessary apparatus. Ten sound transmission instruments will be placed on the telephone poles surrounding the Peace Arch and down the centre of the park area on the Blaine side of the portal. These will be connected by wires with the speakers' platform at the southwest corner of the arch. A 500-volt generator, driven by an electric motor from the power and light wires which carry the electric current to illuminate the arch, will supply the electric energy to convey the words of the speakers for over 300 yards around about the monument. The speaker talks past a small sounding instrument and the sound of his voice is carried distinctly far afield.

Mr. Shrader was accompanied to Blaine by C. Rummel, superintendent of the B. C. E. R. electric power for the Fraser Valley, which company supplies electric energy to Blaine, and V. C. Spink, an electrical expert of Vancouver. Mr. Hackett was accompanied by F. T. Traynor, former electrical superintendent of the Seattle plant.

"The question is whether the Attorney-General can tie your hands before the case has been put before your honor. The liquor act makes the purchaser equally guilty with selling. These men are professional stool pigeons, brought in from the outside, under guise of getting a drink they obtain information for the prosecution of the men they incite to commit an offense."

Remarkable Change.

"Our evidence will be that they drank three rounds of whiskey each, and had beer after that and we don't know how much they may have had in other places. After that they were found in a befuddled condition in an alley way, inquiring their way to the police station. They were given $120 in wages, and expenses by the city. They, we will endeavor to show, were taking good city money, not for obtaining prosecutions, but blowing it in in a good time for themselves. This is part of what we propose to show, and what someone is trying to suppress.

If the Attorney-General may stop the prosecution against these men because they are special constables he would be able to stop prosecution against police officers even for murder. It is plain that after the evidence has been submitted the Attorney-General may take Nolle Prosequi proceedings, but not before. We want a mandamus, and must submit the nature of our evidence here first.

"These men under guise of informers were having a good time at the expense of the city. They were inciting people to crime and then gaining a reputation as moralists. They ——"

"That is all for those in the public gallery, Mr. Higgins," broke in Magistrate Jay, "and has no bearing on this case."

"This case has been brought down to the basis of a factional fight," renewed Mr. Higgins. "I know, and I am telling your honor that there is a large number of prominent citizens of this city who think that if these methods are allowed to prevail there will come a condition of affairs when the law will fall into disrepute."

"Tainted at Fount."

Mr. Twigg replied briefly: "My learned friend for some reason or other had at great length given an address of political or other significance, not relevant to this case. The stream of his purity in flooding is tainted at its fount. Your honor has no jurisdiction whatever to say if the Attorney-General has the right or not—that cannot be argued here. I move for dismissal."

Mr. Carter, Deputy Attorney-General, explaining that he was present on behalf of the Attorney-General and stated "The Attorney-General is the supervisor of all prosecutions under the Government Liquor Act in this Province. I submit that under section 3 clause C and subsection 1 the Attorney-General has in this case the right to intervene, and take charge of the prosecution if he so desires."

Mr. Carter cited the case of Rex versus Starkey when the Attorney-General of Manitoba intervened in a similar case.

"Well, I have already expressed my opinion, and I see no reason to change it," stated Magistrate Jay, "I dismiss both charges." Mr. Higgins stated that mandamus proceedings would be invoked immediately.

Yarrows Will Meet Arcanums Labor Day

Local Amateur Champions to Stage Double-Header at Stadium With Seattle's Classiest Ball Team; Games Will Be Best Ever Staged Here By Amateur Clubs; Big Crowds Expected.

Ball fans are to be provided with a double-header on Labor Day. For a time it looked as though the town would be without a baseball game on the holiday, through the failure of the Tacoma Tigers to remain here for tussles with the Capitals, but arrangements have been successfully completed with the Royal Arcanums, amateur champions of Seattle, to play here on that day with Yarrows, champions of the Victoria Amateur Baseball League.

George Beck, manager of Yarrows, announced this morning that he had booked the Seattle team for a pair of games on Monday. The first battle will be played at the Stadium at 10.30 o'clock and the second will be called at 2.30 o'clock.

Real Good Games.

"We expect these games to prove the fastest and best we have had in the city this year," says Georgie. "The Royal Arcanums have a very flashy team, which has been together for three years and plays like clockwork. Yarrows are in the top of their form and while we may find the going a bit hard against such splendid opposition, we will be out there doing our best and can assure the fans of a real good day's sport."

Yarrows are certainly in splendid shape for the games. They have three good twirlers ready for the fray. Eddie Brown, Ross and "Yammy" McGregor will be available for the mound and "Deacon" McIlvride, the leading batter and fielder in the amateur league, will be behind the bat in one game. Bobby Ross is slated to do the catching in the second game.

Arcanums Have System.

The Royal Arcanums have a wonderful reputation. They have made a clean sweep of everything in Seattle and surrounding district this year. They have the advantage of having played together for three seasons and have a distinct understanding of each other's methods and the system they have evolved brands them as one of the classiest amateur organizations in this part of the planet. While they have a big reputation they will find Yarrows a very hard line-up to dispose of and the game will undoubtedly attract a very large crowd.

Yarrows are now patiently awaiting the completion of the play-off in Vancouver for the Terminal City championship. The Province team disposed of the Centrals in a whirlwind series and have now to meet the Hanburys. As soon as the champions are declared the Victoria Amateur League will make arrangements with them for a series for the British Columbia title. Yarrows are confident that they stand a splendid chance of lifting this coveted honor.

LABOR MEN WILL NOT ATTEND BOUTS WHICH MIKE GIBBONS FIGHTS

New York, Sept. 2.—Members of the Central Trades and Labor Council of Greater New York and vicinity voted last night to discourage attendance of organized labor at boxing bouts engaged in by Mike Gibbons, St. Paul middleweight. The action was based on a communication from the Minneapolis and St. Paul Building Trades, saying Gibbons had employed non-union labor in erecting a row of flat buildings and had expressed himself in favor of the open shop.

HANSEN AND HOVEY TO TWIRL TO-NIGHT

Hard Game Will Be Staged Between Tigers and Capitals at Stadium

Final Battle of Season Will Be Played To-morrow; Caps Go to Tacoma

Owing to the heavy downpour of rain yesterday the scheduled ball game between the Tigers and Capitals was called off. The teams, however, will get into action this evening at 6 o'clock at the Stadium.

Elmer Hansen, manager of the Caps, will do the flinging and he will more than likely be opposed by the Tacoma star southpaw, Phil Hovey. A tussle between these two twirlers will be a real treat and none of the heavy hitters on either team should get very far with their slugging.

The Caps are anxious to wind up the series with Tacoma with a big string of wins. In the two contests so far staged Victoria has been successful. Two more games remain to be played here and the Caps want to take them both.

Final Game To-morrow.

To-morrow afternoon the final game of the Pacific International League in Victoria will be played. The teams will meet at 2 o'clock and immediately after the game will take the boat for Tacoma, where they are billed to perform on Sunday and in a double-header on Monday. The Caps are in fine form now and are fattening up their batting averages while the pitchers are making their twirling performances look more respectable.

The work of the Victoria fielders has been exceptionally brilliant of late. They have been pulling down hard drives in the outfield and the work of Patton around short and Dempsey at first has been of a whirlwind character. This boy Patton has shown so much improvement since coming here that he should be fit to graduate to the majors in another season.

MUST TRAIN FOR SIX MONTHS TO GET BOUT

Willard Must Prove That He Is in Shape Before He Can Meet Dempsey

New York, Sept. 2.—Jess Willard can not have a return match with Jack Dempsey until he trains for five or six months steadily and proves to Tex Rickard that he is in prime physical shape. Neither can Willard hope to step into the ring and take on the chin of a loser's guarantee of $70,000.

These laws for Willard's conduct were laid down by Rickard in response to reports that Willard and Dempsey, both being in training, were to fight for Rickard in New Jersey some time this Fall.

"I won't guarantee Willard anything," Rickard said. "I'm through making guarantees to fighters. They will have to gamble with me. But I think that if Willard really trains, a bout between him and Dempsey in the arena in Jersey City would draw $500,000, which would pay Willard more than the $70,000 guarantee that he demanded."

MERMAIDS' RACE WILL BE VERY PICTURESQUE

Many Lady Swimmers Enter Novelty Event at V.I.A.A. Annual Gala Labor Day

Great interest is being shown by the lady swimmers of the city in the mermaids' race which will be one of the features of the annual gala of the V. I. A. A. to be held in the afternoon and evening of Labor Day. Several mermaids' suits have been made by the Ladies' Committee of the V. I. A. A. and as the swimmers have been practicing the movements of mermaids in the water it is expected that this event will prove to be one of the most picturesque ever seen in this city.

The big event on the programme will be the spectacular high diving from the 100 ft. tower by Victoria's two famous divers, Buck Calder and Billy Muir. These two boys took part in the P. N. A. meet and performed the most wonderful high diving ever seen in this city.

Outsiders Invited.

An invitation has been extended to Blackie Fadden, the famous Seattle fancy diver, and Locke Webster, the Multnomah Athletic Club star swimmer and diver to come to Victoria for the gala in place of Happy Keuhn, who has wired stating that he cannot come till later on in the month. A favorable answer is expected from them to-day.

An invitation has also been extended to the eastern lady swimmers and Vancouver ladies to stay over and take part in the gala on Monday and it is expected that they will be present, in a competitive capacity.

Entries for the various events on the programme can be made with W. H. Davies, at 641 Fort Street.

World's Champion Trick Golfer Who May Play Here Next Month

of Australia. Arrangements are now being made to have this noted golfer perform in Victoria on October 2 or October 9.

The marvel from the Antipodes can do almost anything with a club and a golf ball except make 'em shout folk songs and get 'em to drink some of the bad hooch they sell in these prohibition times.

Once upon a time a golfer became quite skeptical about Kirkwood's ability. A friend asked him for the loan of his watch. Then the fellow flagged Kirkwood, who happened to be on the links at the same time.

"Joe, I want you to do me a favor," he said. "I'll tee up a ball for you and I want you to drive it wherever this man asks."

The group was about 150 yards from the green.

"Drop it within six feet of the cup," requested the skeptic.

"Sure," said Kirkwood, whereupon his friend placed the watch on the ground, face up, placed a little soil thereon and teed up the ball.

"Hey,—wait—wait," shrilled the skeptic. "What are you going to do here?"

"Drive the ball where you asked me to drive it—and from your watch as the base of my tee," grinned Kirkwood.

He Did It.

Before the golfer could rescue his watch, Kirkwood swung, the watch and crystal were wholly uninjured—and the ball rimmed the cup.

It's a matter of record that Kirkwood has driven from a hundred or more watches—and never harmed a single one.

One of Kirkwood's best tricks is to line six balls in a row—practically freeze them together, as the billard expression goes. Then using any club which the crowd may elect, he will drop every one of the six within a few feet of the cup from any distance up to 125 or 150 yards.

And, keep this astounding fact in mind, Kirkwood will drive the ball farthest from him first of all, and keep working toward himself, hitting the nearest ball last. And never will he disturb any one of the balls except the one he is hitting.

He'll Do Anything.

Times without number Kirkwood has frozen two balls a few feet from the cup in a stymie position. He'll then hole the ball farthest from the cup, without moving the other ball a fraction of an inch. No other living golfer ever done the trick even once; Kirkwood has done it a thousand times or more.

Kirkwood, who is naturally a right-handed player, has frequently taken left-handed clubs, driven from the right side — and turned in scores around par. He can shoot with the same deadly accuracy from either side when within 150 yards of the hole, but admits that in driving he is better with his right arm than the other.

Place Kirkwood from 125 to 150 yards off the green, name any club that you want, tell him the exact spot you want the ball placed—in the cup or out of it—and he will make good 95 times out of 100.

Joe Explains It.

Despite all this amazing ability to place balls, Kirkwood doesn't shoot very many courses under par. He explains it this way:

"When making trick shots, if I miss I can try again, in a game, if I fozzle, then I'm in trouble. If I play perfectly, then the knack of being able to drop the ball almost where I want it comes in mighty handy and I can usually take the measure of anybody I'm pitted against."

Kirkwood is only twenty-four. He has been golfing for something like ten years. In his early days, he lacked accuracy. So he began to practice—and with much more fervor than most men usually show. Through weeks, months and years he stuck to it. And the "practice makes perfect" adage has come true in his case.

The Australian youngster, who astounded his own countrymen with his tricks, is now on a tour in this country—and in the wake of his travels he leaves an increasing legion of golfers who see him do it—and yet can hardly believe their eyes.

TWO LEAGUE CRICKET MATCHES TO-MORROW

Albions to Meet Victoria and Garrison Plays Army and Navy Veterans

Two league cricket matches are scheduled for to-morrow afternoon. The Albions will entertain Victoria at the Willows grounds, while the Army and Navy will meet the Garrison at Work Point.

There is no great chance of anything disastrous overtaking Victoria in its match with the Albions. A loss would practically give the cricket championship to the Five C's, but the Victoria club will not take any chances and will field a strong eleven. The Albions are capable of putting up a good fight and the match should be interesting.

The Garrison will probably win over the veterans.

The Five C's and Incogs will meet in a friendly game to-morrow afternoon.

The Albions to-morrow will be represented by the following: G. H. Walton, captain; E. D. Freeman, E. Parsons, F. Bossom, H. A. Ismay, D. Hallam, S. W. Barclay, N. F. Pite, T. Hoggarth, R. Meakin and J. Barnett.

The Army and Navy team will be as follows: Shearman, Butterworth, Atwell, Oliver, Ingall, Bawley Turner, Hunnings, Welch, Brooke, Foster, Charles.

Fine Aquatic Events Promised To-morrow

Fine Weather Only Thing Needed to Assure First Canadian Outdoor Gala In West Being Great Success; Vancouver and Winnipeg Send Entries; Opening Race at Gorge at 2.30 o'Clock.

Provided the sun can make itself agreeable and stay out all day to-morrow, the first annual outdoor Canadian championship swimming gala to be held in Victoria will be a great success. The entry list is one of the largest ever compiled for an aquatic event in this city and the outside competition includes swimmers from as far east as Winnipeg. The attendance is expected to run up into the thousands and arrangements for the meet have been faithfully and carefully carried out so that all that is required to make the event an outstanding success is a warm, bright sun.

The officials of the B. C. branch of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, assisted by representatives of the various local aquatic clubs, convened last evening and arranged the programme for to-morrow. The events include two Canadian championships, one British Columbia championship and a number of very interesting novelty races and stunts.

Great Interest in Main Events.

The greatest interest centres around the Canadian championship. Three Winnipeg ladies have come West to try and wrest these honors from the local mermaids. Vancouver has also entered several of its most promising swimmers. In the 100-yards nine swimmers will take off, including the Winnipeg trio, two Vancouver girls and four Victoria mermaids. The local entrants are: Audrey Griffin and Florrie Gates, of the V. I. A. A., and Gracie and Kathleen Wellburn, of the V. A. S. C.

The 440-yards for the Canadian championship has drawn a field of six entries, with Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria each having two ladies entered. Audrey Griffin and Gracie Wellburn will uphold the honors of the Capital.

Outcome a Mystery.

It is impossible to predict the outcome of these races as little is known of the Eastern swimmers outside of the fact that they hold Canadian championships. Miss Rachael Grimshaw is the holder of the 100 and 300-yard titles, while Miss Hazel Kessler has the 50 and 100-yards indoor championships to her credit as well as the Manitoba championship for the two-twenty.

Audrey Griffin will undoubtedly give a splendid account of herself as she is swimming in splendid form just now. She will be close to the short race of 100-yards, but stands her best chance at the longer distance, the quarter-mile. The competition, however, will be exceptionally good as the Wellburn girls are quite capable of making things merry in both events.

Water Polo Will Be Good.

Play for the B. C. water polo championship will be another tit-bit. Four teams have been entered three from Victoria and one from Vancouver. The final game will be staged at the end of the programme while arrangements have been made to hold the preliminary games at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The V.I.-Elks team will meet the Vancouver Club in the first match and the S. A. S. C. and Y. M. C. A. will clash in the second game. The winners will meet in the finals.

Many of the other events will prove of unusual interest. The life-saving race will provide plenty of close competition. Each swimmer must appear fully dressed and when the signal is given to go the competitors may remove some of their clothes before diving in. They must however, remain in their shirt and trousers and then rescue the drowning man. If the swimmers wish to go in with everything on they can do so.

Exhibition of Swimming.

The exhibition of swimming by Mrs. Hibberson, Gracie Wellburn and Dorothy Melville will prove a very interesting event. It attracted much attention at the Vancouver gala several weeks ago.

To-morrow's gala will be staged at the Elks' pool at the Gorge and the first event will be started at 2.30 o'clock.

The programme of events and the competitors in each are as follows:

Opening Shoot of New Rifle Club on Monday

Marksmen of Vancouver Island are getting their right optics in shape for the first annual prize shoot of the recently formed Vancouver Island Military Rifle Association, to be held at the Heal Range, Saanich, on Labor Day. Close on to sixty of the most expert shots on this island will get into the shooting position and try to lift the prizes which will be at stake.

This is the first meeting to be held by the club. It was only organized a few weeks ago and will conduct a shoot annually for island marksmen, irrespective of the yearly gathering of provincial shots under the British Columbia Rifle Association.

All Big Shots Enter.

All the star shots in Victoria have entered for the Labor shoot. Most of the men who went to Ottawa to shoot in the D. R. A. meeting will compete here and Major Fred. Richardson, the Bisley veteran will also be on the job.

It is not known what entries will be received from up the Island. The machine gunners from Nanaimo may be down, provided they have not arranged other engagements for the holiday.

The many valuable prizes which have been secured for the initial shoot are now on exhibition in the window of Fyvie Bros., 909 Government Street. The winning marksmen will certainly be well repaid for their efforts.

Many of the younger marksmen of this city have entered in this shoot. Some of the lads still in their teens are making the shooting very hot for their older competitors. The status of rifle shots in this city is improving greatly and the Capital boosts some of the best marksmen in the whole of the Dominion.

PROVINCE BALL TEAM DEFEATED CENTRALS

Newspapermen Will Play Off With Hanburys for Vancouver Championship

Vancouver, Sept. 2.—The Province team, champions of the City League, made baseball history on Tuesday night at Athletic Park, when they nosed out Centrals, of the Commercial League, by a 3 to 2 margin, thereby copping the series in two straight games and giving them the right to meet Hanburys for the city championship. It was the first time in the history of amateur baseball in this Province that a City League club has been able to cop the decision over a Commercial League winner. By their victory the winners are deserving of all the praise possible for their fine play in the three games, one of which was a tie.

As was expected, Simons and Johns were called upon to pitch for their respective clubs. A summary of the work gives the Province southpaw a shade in effectiveness. The Cardinal spitballer issued three walks and allowed four safeties while the winning tosser walked but one of the enemy and was touched up for but three bingles. The decisive blue in the fracas, however, can be found in the error column, the winners playing erroriess ball while Jack Pattison's men injected five miscues into the fray.

REFORMERS FAIL TO STOP LABOR DAY GO

New York, Sept. 2.—The International Reform Bureau, which tried unsuccessfully to prevent the Dempsey-Carpentier bout in the same ring which Bryan Downey and Johnny Wilson will meet Monday night for the middleweight title, announces that it has abandoned efforts to stop Monday's contest, but will endeavor to have the New Jersey boxing law repealed.

The Pittsburg Nationals, though holding first place, suffered a double defeat and New York; despite a contest lost to Brooklyn gained a half game on the pirates.

A triple play, the second made against the New York Giants this week, contributed to their defeat.

St. Louis' two victories yesterday over Pittsburg put the Cardinals in third place ahead of Boston.

The Washington Americans have lost seven straight games.

SUZANNE IS SHOWING BAD FORM IN STATES

Has Abandoned Her Schedule of Games; Loss of Game Was Too Much for Her

New York, Sept. 2.—The United States Lawn Tennis Association is trying to convince Suzanne Lengler that it's no criminal offence to lose a match—to persuade the French girl to get out on the courts and play win or lose, just for the pleasure of playing, and for the good of the sport.

The young Frenchwoman is practicing daily at the Nassau Country Club on Long Island, but her entire schedule has been abandoned due to postponements demanded by herself.

The association officials, realizing that Mlle. Lengler is a great star are endeavoring to persuade her to play soon, believing all she needs to restore her championship poise is one good, hard victory over a worthy opponent.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES

American League.

New York, Sept. 2.—The New York Americans regained the lead in the American League yesterday by defeating Washington 6 to 3 and 8 to 1. Washington now has lost seven straight games. In the first game Shawkey was effective in nearly every inning, while New York bunched hits on Mogridge.

Neusel hit his seventeenth home run with Ruth on base. In the second contest Harper started his first game since May, when his left hand was split by a pitched ball, and performed brilliantly. New York won from Johnson in the fourth inning, hitting five successive singles before a man was out.

BRITISH TENNIS STAR SHOWS SPORTSMANSHIP

New York, Sept. 2.—A spirt of sportsmanship was displayed yesterday by John B. Gilbert, of the British Davis Cup tennis team, when, with one point needed for a victory, he defaulted his match in the Metropolitan tournament to F. C. Anderson, Brooklyn.

Gilbert is scheduled to sail for England on Saturday, anod would have been unable to compete in the semi-finals round. Frank T. Anderson, who had advanced to the semi-finals round, will be his brother's opponent, while W. Davis and R. Kinsey, both of San Francisco, will meet in the other half.

PRINCESS

Those who love the big dramatic moments of real life mingled with a sprinkling here and there of lighter coloring will be sure to enjoy "In Old Kentucky" now playing at the Princess Theatre.

The scenic production is splendid, and the stage crew under the direction of Mr. Campbell deserve much credit for the effective results produced by their efforts.

Miss Page was seen in the charming character study of Madge, a mountain girl, in the first act swinging across a mountain chasm on a hanging rope to rescue her lover and again rescuing his valuable race horse from a burning stable and last but not least in the third act riding the same horse to victory for his sake.

Mr. Coots as "Mars Frank" is as usual giving an excellent performance. Mr. Elton as the Kentucky Colonel is decidedly good in the scene with Miss Lisle, where he tells his love after twenty years of delay is well done by both.

Byron Aldenn and Robert Thom have a knife fight which is especially thrilling and ends with the right man "Top O' the Heap." If there has ever been a play well suited to children it is "In Old Kentucky" with a race horse and real boy band of eleven pieces—don't let them miss it, and do not forget to send in your guesses little folks for the contest.

"In Old Kentucky," will be presented to-night and the balance of the week with the usual Saturday matinee.

ROYAL VICTORIA

There have been many screen stories of Japanese and American life, and many impersonations of the Orient. Of late, American directors have achieved great success in presenting Japanese and American artists in the main rows of their feature films. The reason for this has been that it is almost impossible to find a white man capable of interpreting the Oriental role. However that may be, in "Mr. Wu," showing at the Royal Victoria Theatre to-day, Matheson Lang, the well-known English character actor, has achieved the impossible. His impersonation of the suave Chinese merchant prince, who is the central figure of the story, was a revelation in the great stage success, which ran in London for two years, but it was never dreamed at that time that he would be able to stand the test of the camera's penetrating eye and sustain the character without the accompaniment of speech. "Mr. Wu" is in every way a remarkable photoplay. It is rich in scenery and powerful in expression, while the horrors of the story, which are dispelled by the ending, are conveyed, not by melodramatic action, but by the wonderful character work of the central figure. "Mr. Wu" has been brought to Canada to answer the photoplay patrons' demands for British productions, and it sets a high standard. An Edgar comedy and a Chester Outing are also included on the same programme. Miss Belle McEwan has selected new songs that will no doubt improve her popularity with the Victoria audience.

DOMINION

Some insight on how it feels to travel with a circus was afforded Billie Burke during the filming of "The Education of Elizabeth," the Roy Horniman story in which she will be seen at the Dominion Theatre all week. Miss Burke, who has the role of a vivacious chorus girl, was supposed to be the possessor of quite an assortment of pets including a pet goldfish, twelve pigeons, one monkey and twenty-four rabbits. When the company went on location to Ossining, N. Y., the menagerie was taken along, and Miss Burke laughingly asserted that she felt like a queen of the sawdust ring. The supporting company headed by Donald Cameron is excellent.

COLUMBIA

"California, besides being the land of oranges and sunshine, is the original habitat of the sport costume," claims the bewitching star of the latest Selznick picture, "Everybody's Sweetheart," which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre. "In no other spot are sweaters and low heeled shoes raised to the power of importance that they achieve in the far West. Plaids there grow as large as billboards. The simple polka-dot develops the circumference of the cat's saucer. And blues and greens and yellows become so bright that your eyes have to become accustomed gradually to their brilliance. When I started to California to make "Everybody's Sweetheart," I had with me what I considered lively sports clothes. But they looked positively lugubrious when contrasted with what I found there. So I simply went on a color jag. I bought a green smock that I am going to save, because it ought to mean a great deal to posterity. I have a white silk skirt with purple and yellow dots that I can't realize I ever wore, now that I'm home. And wouldn't tired Broadway stare if it could gaze on my scarlet coat."

PASSION PLAY REVIVED FOR 1922

Some of Actors at Oberammergau Will Be Same as in 1910 Cast

Thirty performances of the Passion Play have been scheduled for 1922 by the committee of 21 which is directing the spectacle, but this number will be increased if the attendance demands, as was the case both in 1900 and 1910.

It will require an outlay of 1,500,000 marks to stage the Oberammergau play, and the villagers are extremely anxious about the German political situation, lest conditions be such that foreigners will not attend, says The Ceepeear, official publication of the C. P. R., in Vancouver.

The 360 burghers, who constitute the descendants of the original peasants who made the vow to produce the play decenially, personally assume the responsibility for this expenditure, and the failure to attract sufficient visitors to meet the cost would result in the bankruptcy of practically the entire village, as the Oberammergau folk have slight resources.

Most of the burghers are woodcarvers, potters, painters, sculptors farmers, merchants and small shopkeepers. Only the descendants of the villagers who were saved from the plague in 1633 take part in the Passion Play and assume responsibility for its production.

Next October will be a fateful month, for then the names of the villagers who are to have the leading roles in the spectacle will be announced. To be selected to enact the role of Jesus Christ, or one of the Apostles is a far greater honor to an Oberammergau man than election to the presidency of Germany or any other office within the gift of the entire German people.

And any woman of Oberammergau would far rather be chosen to play the role of Mary or Martha or Mary Magdalene than to be in the position of Frau Ebert as mistress of the president's palace in Berlin.

Many of the actors in the Passion Play next year will doubtless be the same as those in the cast when the play was last produced in 1910. Anton Lang, who enacted the role of Jesus Christ in 1900 and 1910, will probably be chosen for the part again, as he is still young enough to undertake the arduous task and looks the part so well that younger aspirants are not likely to displace him.

Eighty-two of the Oberammergau men died during the war, and many of the older actors of the last production will be disqualified by age for important roles. Consequently, there are scores of places in the cast to which young men with ability as actors may aspire. They have begun to let their hair grow. Wig and makeup are not permitted by the directors of the Passion Play.

Practically all the older men who had important parts in the last production have never cut their hair. Many of them have retained their long beards and pride themselves on their resemblance to the biblical characters they have depicted.

DR. TOLMIE WILL OPEN FAIR AT NEW WESTMINSTER

In a wire received W. G. McQuarrie, M.P. for New Westminster, Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion, has accepted the invitation to attend the New Westminster Provincial Exhibition and will be present on Farmers' Day, Wednesday, September 14, when it is anticipated that the largest gathering of farmers of the Lower Mainland will be present to witness what promises to be the best Fall Fair ever held under the auspices of the R. A. & I Society.

When Dr. Tolmie's name was mentioned as being a possible visitor to the exhibition Mr. McQuarrie was assigned the task of inviting Dr. Tolmie.

Dr. Tolmie will be one of the speakers at the banquet which it is planned to hold in the Arena building, when the farmers of the Fraser Valley will be the guests of the local Board of Trade in a get-together occasion.

During his stay in the city, Dr. Tolmie, with his wife and two children, will be house guests of Mr. and Mrs. McQuarrie.

JOFFRE BIG EATER

Paris, Sept. 2.—The latest war reminiscenses to be printed are those of the "chef" who presided over the destinies of the French General Staff during the battle of the Marne and who prepared the simple but abundant menu that Marshal, then General, Joffre sat down to at very irregular hours.

If the chef's culinary accomplishments were not superior to his literary talent, then one pities poor General Joffre, and it must have been a relief to the Commander-in-chief to leave the mess table and return to the battle line.

"During the battle of the Marne," says the chef, "the General put away enough food to feed three ordinary men." Then he adds naively: "I hope Monsieur le Marechal won't mind what I say about the General."

One of the most amusing incidents related by the chef is that on Sept. 12, when it became clear that the enemy was in full flight northward and that the battle was won, congratulations were in order and he received instructions that the menu for the dinner should be as much of a banquet as his raw material would permit.

Just as the meal was about to be completed, a British automobile came up to headquarters with a basket of champagne as a token of congratulation to the French Staff. It came from a British unit in liaison. The chef was just getting ready to serve it when he noted that the bottles bore a German mark, and he informed the officer of the fact. That worthy forbade him to serve the champagne to the staff and ordered him to throw the bottles away. "We did," says the chef, "but only the next morning, and they were empty."

UNION FAVORS ANNUAL TERMS

Believes 12 Months Adequate For Mayoralty or Reeveship

Port Alberni, Sept. 2.—(By Times Special Correspondent) — Aldermen and municipal councillors should have two-year terms of office, but the electors should be given opportunity every year to get rid of their mayors and reeves.

This is the majority opinion of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities as expressed in resolutions passed at the Union convention here this week.

Reeve Lockley, Esquimalt, fought long and vigorously for a two-year term for mayors and reeves, but he was hopelessly overwhelmed. "I can't for the life of me see that councillors should sit for two years and that the chief executive officer should retire annually," he declared.

"The Mayor and the Reeve formulate their policies when they go into office, and surely they should be given the same opportunity to work those policies out to a logical conclusion as aldermen and councillors, I can't see the logic of giving councillors and aldermen two years and keeping the chief executive officers down to one year. If there is one man who should remain in office for two years it is the reeve or the mayor."

Majority Should Retire.

Jack Loutet, president of the Union, said that, as he understood it, the plan was to have half the municipal council retire annually after having served for two years. But unless the mayor of reeve retired annually the electors would be voting each year for a minority of the council. If, however, the mayor or reeve retired with half the council annually the electors could make certain reforms by changing a majority of the municipal administration, he explained. For that reason a one-year term for municipal heads was thought advisable, he said.

Will Return Good Men.

"The two-year term for mayors and aldermen was proposed to the Legislature before and the answer we got was that any good mayor or reeve would be re-elected at the end of his annual term without trouble," A. W. Gray, ex-mayor of New Westminster and secretary of the Union, replied. "And when one looks over this convention and sees so many mayors and reeves who have held office for five, six and seven years, one is convinced that there is something in this idea. The one-year term is desirable so that the electors can get rid of an objectionable mayor or reeve as soon as possible, instead of carrying his burden for two years."

ROADS ESSENTIAL TO PUBLIC WELFARE

Herbert Cuthbert Addresses Good Roads League

Port Alberni, Sept. 2.—(By Times Special Correspondent)—The era of railways as the chief means of promoting settlement is passing in British Columbia, Herbert Cuthbert, executive secretary of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, told the Good Roads League of British Columbia during the closing session of its annual convention here this week.

In future automobiles will take the place of locomotives in bringing civilization out of wilderness in this Province, said Mr. Cuthbert. On this account, the construction of the very best roads possible, and as many of them as possible, was essential, essential not alone for pleasure purposes but for the material prosperity of the country.

The day when train loads of immigrants settled Western Canada was over, Mr. Cuthbert declared. In future the authorities should attract tourists to British Columbia and let them see the beauties and advantages of the Province. Many of these people would settle down here, he declared.

But to attract tourists not only good roads but copious advertising was essential, he said. Advertising and good roads had built up California by bringing in tourists, Mr. Cuthbert asserted. Advertising, today was saving California from serious financial trouble by enabling fruit growers to dispose of their fruit, although the fruit market was glutted, he pointed out.

Victoria Takes Small Part.

Victoria took little part in the Good Road Leagues. Convention just concluded. Neither Mayor Porter nor Alderman A. E. Todd, the city's delegates, were present at the main sessions. The Mayor did not arrive until Tuesday night, while Alderman Todd did not reach Victoria until after the meeting concluded.

Norman Yarrow was present at the League sessions as a representative of the Victoria Automobile Club, but the convention quashed the resolutions which he proposed, although Reeve Watson, of Saanich, fought strenuously for them.

WOULD FAVOR TAXATION EXPERTS

F. A. McDiarmid Favors Educating Legislators

Port Alberni, Sept. 2.—(By Times Special Correspondent.) — Appointment of a committee of leading municipal experts to attend sessions of the Provincial Legislature in Victoria and explain municipal taxation problems to the members of the House was urged upon the Union of British Columbia Municipalities during the early sessions of its annual convention here this week by its parliamentary agent, F. A. McDiarmid.

"We have got to base our financial proposals on the Government's attitude on taxation," Jack Loutet, president of the Union, declared when financial problems were first broached at the convention. "There is no use us going ahead and formulating proposals until we have heard from the Government."

Surely this convention can deal in a constructive way with the taxation question, protested City Clerk Blandy, of Port Alberni, a city which had advanced a number of financial resolutions."

"We have heard nothing more practical than the old proposal that the Government take over the schools," Mr. Loutet replied. "Until we hear to the contrary we shall continue to press this proposal, which was advanced and adopted at our last convention."

Have Said Last Word.

"We have said our last word—now we want a reply," Mr. McDiarmid declared. "We should stand pat on our old proposals until we get a definite reply. Premier Oliver is coming up here and he may give us any advice from overalls to soft soap but meanwhile we should appoint a taxation committee which could discuss taxation questions with the Legislature during its Fall session—a committee which would have the Union behind it and talk with the force of the whole Union. Until we do this, until we hear from the Government, we might as well not advance any further proposals."

NEW OFFICERS NAMED BY UNION

The Union agreed to leave all taxation and financial matters to the executive, and nine additional members. The committee will hold a conference with the Government at an early date. No specific proposals on this subject were dealt with.

The 1922 convention of the Union will be at Kamloops.

A resolution was passed urging the Government to prohibit the sale of tubercular cattle.

Victoria's Memorial Avenue scheme was nedorsed.

No Antagonism Needed.

Premier Oliver dealt fully with the financial situation. No announcement of a Legislative programme was made, but the Premier assured the convention of his willingness to meet a committee from the municipalities to work out a basis of future taxation in which the interests of both Province and municipalities will be protected.

"There must not be a feeling of antagonism between the Province and the municipalities," said Mr. Oliver. "If you maintain hostility it is hopeless to expect a solution of our difficulties. The Province cannot thrive if the municipalities are bankrupt, and the principle works both ways. My criticism of you is that you come to us asking for Provincial revenue, and when we ask where we can compensate ourselves you say that is our business. We are collecting a vast amount of municipal data. It is not complete because of the hostility of some municipalities. You ask us to take over schools. The Province is now paying $4 500,000 for education; the municipalities pay one million less. To-day's question is not of money or money raising, but of levying taxes equitably. You are loaded up with unproductive land. Doesn't that suggest that you have not taxed equitably? There should be relation between the tax and the service given in return for the tax."

An Expensive Project.

The Premier read from a Victoria council letter setting forth the income sources asked for municipalities. If the Province gave these it would mean a loss of $4,425,000, the Premier said.

"In your report you say the Province, like Pharaoh and the Ishmaelites, gave you the clay but no straw. I say that you have done the same to the Province. You ask concessions, but offer nothing in return. Isn't that so?"

There were cries of "No."

"Then answer me the question. 'Where are we to get our revenue?'" pursued the Premier.

"From the land, where we get it," replied Mayor Johnston, of New Westminster.

"You have insisted from year to year that lands are taxed too high," Mr. Oliver replied.

Some one suggested a tax on every salary and income.

"Now we are getting somewhere," remarked the Premier. "But if you want an income tax you should commend us for inaugurating one. Are you prepared to ask that the tax be doubled." A score of delegates replied affirmatively.

Province's Debt.

The Premier quoted figures on the Province's indebtedness. It had to pay out $4,850,000 on interest and sinking fund, or $600,000 more than it received from natural resources.

"You have forced me to blazon these facts to the whole world," declared Mr. Oliver.

"That's what we want," cried convention leaders. "These things should be known."

"Not in the money markets," corrected the Premier.

"But we have nothing to hide," the Premier declared: "I am not fighting shy of another conference, but if we are to get anywhere we must begin at a common starting point. We must cut out wastages on both sides. You must think provincially as well as municipally. We must work out a proper relationship."

No Antagonism.

President Loutet left the chair to deny that the Union had approached the Government in a spirit of antagonism.

"If we had the Province's problems we would solve them," he declared. "We have cut expenses in all departments but schools, and there the Government allows us no latitude. The one mill rate proposed by the Government was one of the rawest things ever put up to an intelligent people."

Mr Loutet attacked the Government for putting liquor before municipal affairs at the last session. He was interrupted several times by the Premier.

Other Ministers Speak.

Hon. Dr. MacLean said B. C. municipalities were treated liberally by the Province respecting schools, and branded much of the criticism as camouflage. He felt that there would be opportunities for relief, but made no new proposals.

Mr. Farris upheld the Government for concentrating on the liquor issue at last session. He emphasized the necessity of Province and municipalities working in complete co-operation in arriving at equitable tax arrangements.

DEPRECATE REFUSAL TO SUPPORT PLAN

Saanich Delegation Considers Island Highway Work Emergent

(By Times Special Correspondent.)

Port Alberni Sept. 2.—Disgusted with what they consider the narrow sectionalism of the organization, Reeve Watson and Councillor Ormond, of Saanich, intend to withdraw from membership in the Good Roads League, they announced to The Times correspondent here yesterday.

Their decision to retire from participation in the work of the league was based on the league's refusal to endorse the proposal of the Victoria Automobile Club that the Island Highway paving be extended from Colwood to Goldstream. This work, it was explained, would cost about $50,000 and would serve large numbers of tourists. In fact, motor licenses collected from car owners between Duncan and Victoria—a portion of the Island Highway which the Saanich delegates wanted improved—will amount to approximately $100,000 this year, Reeve Watson told The Times. The Provincial Government in building this road will secure from the Federal Government forty per cent. of the total cost, the Reeve pointed out.

The Automobile Club's resolution on this subject, and another resolution asking for the extension of the existing road into Campbell River Falls, were rejected by the league in accordance with convention's policy of concentrating this year almost exclusively on the trans-provincial highway scheme. Delegates from the interior complained that they were not asking the league to deal with local problems this year in order that the trans-provincial highway project might receive the full and undivided weight of the league's support.

Passed Local Resolutions.

"I would not have raised any objection to the league's decision against us if the convention had adhered to the plan of concentrating exclusively on the trans-provincial highway scheme," the Reeve told The Times. "But it did not do that. It passed a number of resolutions dealing with local transportation problems. It did not avoid sectionalism. It fell into it. Why it could not endorse an Island resolution regarding the Island Highway and the opening up of the route to Campbell River Falls, a project which would cost no more than $500 I cannot understand. I am heartily disgusted with the whole business and I personally will have nothing further to do with the league."

Through With League.

"I, too, am through with the league," said Councillor Ormond. "It took a stand against sectionalism and then passed sectional resolutions, turning down our proposals. It is a crying shame that the road into Campbell River Falls is not opened up. We tell tourists through the Victoria and Island Development Association to be sure to visit these falls and when they get near there they find there is no road for their cars. They have got to walk over two miles."

Why pare a corn and keep it?
Why pad it and let it remain?
Or why treat it in old ways, harsh, crude and uncertain?
Millions have found a new way. It is Blue-jay—the plaster or the liquid. A touch applies it, and the pain stops instantly. Then the whole corn quickly loosens and comes out.
The way is gentle, scientific, sure. A famous expert evolved it. A world-famed surgical dressing house produces it.
In it freeing thousands of people—why not you? Try it on one corn and you will always let it end yours. Start tonight.

"Advertising is to business as steam is to machinery."

THE NEED FOR ADVERTISING.

The humblest device of commerce, the greatest creation of science, the vast initiative of industry, all enlist in the cause of the advancement of understanding. To multiply this advancement, industry created advertising. The need for advertising has increased with the enlargement of industry. The two have gathered strength from each other, until, for its economic value, advertising has become one of the most vital forces in the upbuilding of understanding—in the development and stabilization of modern business. Legitimate advertising pays.

THIS is a very spacious and well appointed house, containing 8 large rooms, exclusive of pantries, bathroom, halls, etc. Small vestibule, large entrance hall, good sized cloak room with wash basin and toilet, a very attractive dining room with large windows facing southeast, making this a particularly bright room; the living room is the feature of the house, being beautifully panelled and beamed, large open fireplace, cosy inglenook with built-in seats, bookshelves, etc., glass doors that lead out on to large back veranda, partly glassed in; there is a nice large kitchen with pass pantry; upstairs there are three large bedrooms each with separate clothes closet; one room has an open fireplace and full length bevelled glass mirror; there is also a good sized dressing room which could be conveniently used as a bedroom; large bathroom and toilet. The house is all in first-class condition, and, in fact, the building is all practically new. The basement is full sized, cemented and has a dandy Gurney Oxford furnace. The lot is large and contains a very nice flower and vegetable garden. The district is all that can be desired. ABOUT FLIES.

"I wonder where all the flies come from," grumbled Mrs. Jones as she swatted around the dining-room.

"Well, mom," said the young joker of the family, "the cyclone makes the house fly, the blacksmith makes the fire fly, the jockey makes the horse fly, and I heard you tell pa at supper last night that us children make the butter fly."—Boston Transcript.

SOLVED A PROBLEM.

"Dicky," said his mother, "when you divided those five caramels with your sister, did you give her three?"

"No, ma. I thought they wouldn't come out even, so I ate one 'fore I began to divide."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

WHITESIDE PLANS FIGHT OVER P.G.E.

Retains Civil Engineer to Help With Case Against More Money Spending

David Whiteside, M. P. P. of New Westminster, has started to carry out his plans for a revision of the whole Government policy towards the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, which he announced in The Victoria Times last Monday, by retaining Gerald Kent, a civil engineer, to help him prepare his case to be laid before the Legislature.

Mr. Whiteside is to fight for the abandonment of the lower part of the road from Clinton, and will oppose any effort to spend any more money in pushing the road through from Quesnel to Prince George at the present time. He says that until settlement of the country warrants it, the connection can be made by the Fraser River, which is navigable all the way between the two towns.

From Clinton the P. G. E. should be linked up with the C. P. R. and C. N. R. at Ashcroft, less than forty miles distant, he asserts. The whole route from Clinton to the Coast, through a rocky country, will cost too much for upkeep expenses to be supported by the part of the road through the Cariboo. A local train service might be given on a small part of the line running through the mountains from Squamish to serve the Summer resorts which have sprung up around the lakes.

The abandoned part of the P. G. E. from Clinton through the Fraser Canyon should be converted into a motor road, Mr. Whiteside declared. He says it would make the most magnificent tourist route in the country.

LETTERS

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and legibly written. The longer an article the shorter the chance of insertion. All communications must bear the name and address of the writer, but not for publication unless the owner wishes. The publication or rejection of articles is a matter entirely in the discretion of the Editor. No responsibility is assumed by the paper for MSS. submitted to the Editor.

ALD. ANDROS CORRECTS.

To the Editor:—My attention has been drawn to an article which appeared in your issue of last Tuesday, in which certain statements are made regarding a reply which you state I made to the effect that the person telephoning me conveying the request of the Mayor to sign city cheques in his absence "could go to ——."

As it was Miss O'Rourke, the Mayor's secretary, who telephoned me, and, as I am not in the habit of telling ladies to go to ——, I need hardly contradict this.

Regarding the second statement that I refused to sign the salary cheques for the month of August. As a matter of fact all the salary cheques for August were signed by Mayor Porter before he left for Alberni and before your article was published. I attended the City Hall on Tuesday and signed all the cheques on that day and again on Thursday.

As the whole article appears to have originated in the fertile imagination of your reporter and is absolutely untrue and without foundation, I have to request that you will publish this letter with a statement withdrawing the different allegations contained in the article.

E. B. ANDROS.
644 Linden Ave., Victoria, B. C., Sept. 1, 1921.

[The Times regrets if the publication of the article to which Ald. Andros objects has injured him in any way. The article was based upon an impression received by its reporter from information gained by him at the City Hall. The dash at the end of the observation attributed to him was not in the original copy and was inadvertently inserted in the typographical department of this paper. Without that dash the remark would have been quite harmless and respectable.—Editor.]

NEW MEMBERS OF MEIGHEN CABINET

pending but they will await the return of Premier Meighen.

Women Senators.

Toronto, Sept. 2. — (Canadian Press)—If the Meighen Government is returned to power it is pledged to take action which will enable the inclusion of women in the Senate of Canada. This promise was made to the women of London yesterday by Premier Meighen. The announcement was greeted with cheers by a large assemblage of women whom the Prime Minister was addressing.

THE MARKET REPORT.

In a letter received from the London, England, office of the Salada Tea Co., the information is given that some tea has been moving to Germany, Poland and Russia. It looks as if Russia would take quite a steady quantity of common tea for financial arrangements seem to be working satisfactorily.

Victoria Holds Record.—Postmaster H. F. Bishop announced to-day that the August receipts of the Victoria post office were $1,350 in revenue in excess of the corresponding month last year. In Vancouver, where the excess revenue was quoted as $1,000, much satisfaction is being taken from that surplus.

THE DIFFCULTY.

Mrs. Kelly—Does your husband get good pay, Mrs. Rooney?

Mrs. Rooney—Well, he would, Mrs Kelly, if it wasn't for sthrikin' so often for better pay.—Boston Transcript.

time since 1911. As the Premier intimated, the country will be asked to pronounce upon a clean-cut protective tariff policy to be put forward by his party, but there will be many other important considerations that will profoundly affect the course of Canada's destiny upon which the people will be asked to pronounce."

Le Canada, of Montreal, says:

"There is a conclusion that is unavoidable that arises from Premier Meighen's announcement. It is that the constant, energetic, relentless struggle of the Liberal Party to obtain elections has achieved its aim."

Years Required.

Halifax, Sept. 2.—The Acadian Recorder, dealing with the Federal election, says:

"Whatever the result of the appeal to the people may be, there is one thing certain and that is the so-called Union Government will cease to exist, but it will take some years to recover from the effects of its blunderings and incapacity."

Ottawa Citizen.

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—The Ottawa Citizen says:

"The forces of democracy, independent of old party fund politics, are far from being organized for an election campaign. They are represented in the House by a contemptible little army' known as the National Progressives, under the leadership of Mr. Crerar. When the general election is fought, it will be in the nature of the first big push of the new army of progress in Canada against the entrenched interests of party politics. This first big push should result in substantial gains for the people's cause."

Kingston Standard.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 2.—In an election editorial, The Kingston Standard says:

"The Canadian dollar is cheap enough in the United States as it is. Let us not further cheapen it by playing into the hands of our neighbors to the south of us by lowering our tariff while they raise theirs. Protection, like charity, should begin at home."

Unaffected.

Prince Albert, Sask., Sept. 2.—The Prince Albert Herald says:

"The announcement of a general election never fails to bring the partisans of all parties into the streets crying their wares, but it will not be surprising if the great mass of the Canadian people are comparatively unaffected by these clamorings until the political atmosphere has cleared considerably."

The Issue.

Lethbridge, Sept. 2.—The Lethbridge Herald says:

"It is clear that Mr. Meighen proposes making the issue before the people 'free trade versus protection.' He is going to do his utmost to establish that the farmers are advocates of absolute free trade. This means that we are destined to see an election campaign fought with many instruments similar to those used in the reciprocity election of 1911. A desperate effort will be made to rouse the East against the West and to stir up the manufacturers and the artisans against the farmers of the country."

Edmonton Journal.

Edmonton, Sept. 2.—The Edmonton Journal says:

"The reasons given by Premier Meighen for his election decision are, as he says, clear-cut and definite. He would have preferred to wait for a redistribution, which he had previously admitted to be desirable and which we also hold to be very nearly a necessity from the Western point of view. But there are considerations to be taken into account of even greater importance than an election."

Saskatoon Star.

Saskatoon, Sept. 2.—The Saskatoon Star says:

"Mr. Meighen advanced no new reasons for an immediate election, and the reasons he gave are not good enough to weigh against the great fact that redistribution has not been made and the Western Provinces given their proper representation in Parliament."

Quebec Chronicle.

Quebec, Sept. 2.—The Quebec Chronicle, in an editorial on the coming Federal general election, says:

"We have no hesitation in saying that the destinies of this Dominion for the next few years will be safer in the hands of Mr. Meighen, that its permanent interests will be better served by him than by either of his rivals."

St. John Telegraph.

St. John, N. B., Sept. 2.—Dealing with the general election, the St. John Telegraph says:

"Premier Meighen seeks to deceive in an evident attempt to create the impression that the Canadian people must decide whether it is in favor of a tariff for revenue or for free trade. There is no question of free trade."

Fort William Bulletin.

Fort William, Sept. 2.—The Fort William Bulletin says:

"Were it not for the uncertainty that faces all Governments in times of unrest and economical disturbance such as prevail in Canada in common with other nations, there could be no possible doubt of the outcome of an election fought on the question of the tariff. Even now we can not believe that Canadians are prepared to sacrifice their national welfare merely to defeat a Government."

TROOPS SENT TO DISTURBED AREA IN WEST VIRGINIA

Washington, Sept. 2.—Orders for immediate entrainment of troops for the West Virginia coal strike zone were issued early to-day by Major-General Harbord, Assistant Chief of Staff.

Action was postponed, however, on the question of declaring martial law, pending conferences between Secretary Weeks and other Government officials with President Harding. The proclamation has been signed and requires only issuance to become effective.

SAFE IN HARBOR.

Newport, Ore., Sept. 2.—The gasoline launch Freemont, with twenty-seven passengers aboard, which was held outside the bar last night on account of a rough sea arrived in harbor here safely at 7.30 this morning.

BEER CAMPAIGN TO COVER B. C.

Hotelmen Plan 2,000 Petitions For Liquor Law Change

Plans for inauguration of a big beer campaign throughout British Columbia with the object of influencing the Legislature at its next session, are being completed by the B. C. Hotels Association in Vancouver.

Members of the association want the sale of beer restored in all hotels for guests as they say it will cut down the consumption of "hard stuff."

They also claim that the way beer is being handled by the Liquor Board is provoking dissatisfaction on the part of the people who use mild liquors only.

The association plans to sweep the Province with a petition-signing campaign. More than 2,000 petitions will be circulated.

HOW SALES TAX SHOULD BE LEVIED

retail store of the former, are subject to tax.

4. If the greenhouse accounts of a producer, who sells to the retail trade and users, are segregated from his retail business, the sales tax of 3 per cent. is payable on sales to the retail store on the same basis of price as sales made to the retail trade.

5. On sales by producers to retailers, the tax payable to the Crown is 3 per cent. on the net selling price, of which 1½ per cent. at least, must be shown as a separate item on the invoice and collected from the purchaser.

6. Sales by the producer to the consumer or user, are also taxable at the rate of 3 per cent. on the same basis of price as sales made to the retail trade.

7. Dealers who import cut flowers or plants and sell under wholesale license are liable 1½ per cent. in addition to the 2½ per cent. tax on importation on sales of imported stock.

8. When a producer sells through a commission house, the latter being employed on straight salary or commission basis only, the tax of 3 per cent. is applicable on the sale by such commission house to retail dealers since the commission house is regarded as being in the employ of the producer for purposes of sales tax.

The foregoing regulations are effective as respects all sales made from May 10, 1921, inclusive.

Circular G 43 is hereby cancelled.

Commissioner Customs and Excise.

MAY EQUALIZE RATES FOR POOR

ever, while many of the leaders and the rank and file begin the day very truculently, they generally calm down before nightfall.

For example, one meeting of the unemployed resolved to enter a workhouse in a body, the idea being that it would cause the authorities more expense that if outdoor relief were demanded. Their ardor, however, was suddenly dampened when the chairman announced that the resolution would be considered by a committee.

Majorities.

It is said that where the majority of the members of the poor law boards consist of Laborites the demands of the unemployed are treated much more respectfully than where the majority consists of the small shop-keeping class.

The British Ministry of Health, which oversees the proceedings of local authorities, declares that it will use such powers as it has "to stop the granting of extravagant relief." The Ministry strongly opposes the principle of putting the unemployed men in as good positions as the independent laborer.

Official figures, which are positively misleading, assert there has been a decrease of 66,000 unemployed this week. Many unemployed neglect to register when the period of relief ends.

London, Sept. 2.—London's unemployed to-day were continuing to hold their own as the new feature of the day, following the sensational developments of last night, involving the arrest and imprisonment of several members of the Poplar Borough Council and the more or less peaceable but determined all-night siege of the guardians at Woolwich by those demanding heavy unemployment maintenance. Nine members of the Poplar Council, including the Mayor, spent their first night behind bars for refusing to comply with the London County Council's demands for levying further taxes on the town, it being maintained by the Poplar Council that the unemployment situation rendered further assessment impossible.

As Martyrs.

They accepted the situation complacently as martyrs to their belief.

Three more Councillors of the Borough of Poplar had been arrested by one o'clock this afternoon and a near riot developed as the sheriff's officers were taking two of them away in a taxicab.

AUSTRALIAN M.P.'S LEAGUE DELEGATES: SOME CRITICISM

London, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The London Times says the position of Australian representatives in the League of Nations will be entrusted to members of the Federal Parliament of the Commonwealth as the result of the vigorous criticism made by the newspapers and Parliament in Australia of the temporary appointment of a salaried official of the public service, namely, the Acting High Commissioner of Australia in London, to that position.

ANTARCTIC PARTY TO START SEPT. 12

Shackleton's Programme of Work Is Extended

London, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Sir Ernest Shackleton, interviewed regarding his further expedition to the Antartic regions, said that the programme had increased to such an extent that further alterations had been made to the ship Quest, which will bear the party among the ice floes. The personnel of the party will be increased from fourteen to eighteen.

These changes have delayed the departure of the expedition, which now it is expected will leave about September 12.

The British Admiralty has done everything possible in the way of lending instruments and wireless installation and has also indicated certain lines of research which it desires carried out. This Admiralty work should result in insuring increased safety for ships at sea in certain areas.

Aviation.

The expedition will also undertake a programme for the British Air Ministry which will have a great economic bearing on the future of aviation.

Sir Ernest has declared that in carrying out researches for these two Departments the original programme will be in no wise curtailed. Possibly before they leave Cape Town another geologist may be added to the expedition. It is the desire of John Rowett, the scientist, who is financing the expedition, that this expedition have representatives from each of the Dominions of the Empire on board. At present two New Zealanders, one Canadian and one Australian have been commissioned for the party, but no South African.

NINE BANDITS IN PHILIPPINES WERE KILLED BY POLICE

Manila, Sept. 2.—Nine Moro bandits were killed by a constabulary patrol on Lebao Island, it was reported here to-day. The Moros robbed and murdered another Moro, it was reported, and the constabulary went in pursuit of the murderers. The Moros fought with bolos and one revolver. There were no casualties among the constabulary.

NEW MOROCCAN EMPIRE PLAN OF INSURGENT CHIEF

Melilla, Sept. 2.—Abed El Krin, leader of the Moorish insurgents, has conceived the idea of forming a new Moroccan Empire, which would extend farther than most of the old Moroccan possessions. Correspondents have obtained details of Abed El Krin's plans from native sources.

Abed El Krin has begun to issue paper money in various denominations, bearing his stamp and signature. His far-reaching plan of dominion, however, is meeting with opposition from the powerful Moroccan tribes.

RECONSTRUCTION OF THE BRIAND CABINET IN FRANCE

Paris, Sept. 2.—Premier Briand's Cabinet is declared by The Echo de Paris to face what amounts to a crisis. Paul Doumer, Minister of Finance, is likely to resign as a result of yesterday's Cabinet meeting at which he was criticized when the subject of the inter-Allied financial agreement reached on August 13 was discussed.

It is also possible that the whole Cabinet will resign, it is declared, so that Premier Briand may re-arrange his Ministry more easily. In any case, however, the crisis is expected to be brief, and may be settled before to-night.

NO SHORTAGE OF WORKMEN FOR VICKERS PLANT

Montreal, Sept. 2.—Four hundred workmen, boilermakers, blacksmiths and carpenters, employed by the Canadian Vickers plant, quit work yesterday because of a wage cut of 7 to 15 cents an hour. The company advertised yesterday calling for men at the reduced wages and received hundreds of applications for the positions.

C. P. R. RAILS ARE MADE IN ONTARIO

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 2.—It is announced here that the Canadian Pacific Railway has placed a fairly large rail contract with the Algoma Steel Corporation. The order is said to be for 25,000 standard steel rails. This contract, together with rail orders on hand, will keep the plant going until November 12.

TO SET ASIDE LARGER SUM FOR PRAIRIE PUBLICITY

Advertising Proves Paying Investment; Offset Drop in Eastern Visitors

Approximately $4,000 will be expended by the the Victoria and Island Development Association on this Fall's advertising campaign in prairies newspapers, if schemes which will be laid before the Administrative Committee are endorsed. This will be a much larger appropriation than was made last year, when $2,800 was allocated to this form of publicity.

The Development Association is now sending out to prairie centres many thousands of pamplets for distribution by the transportation companies, both the Canadian National system and the Canadian Pacific Railway featuring this material at all their stations and offices.

Automobile literature is being sent to selected lists of prairie business men, in an effort to boost for the completion of the Canadian Highway. This material automatically has a good effect on adding to Victoria's visiting list during the Winter months.

It is noted by Commissioner Thomson that the Canadian Pacific Railway's traffic statistics on through travel bear out, in remarkable detail, the experience Victoria has had as to the tourist traffic for the past season. The number of visitors to Victoria has been somewhat lower than that of last year and the Railway Company's statement shows that there has been a twenty per cent. reduction in passenger traffic in general, due almost entirely to the cutting in half of the traffic from the Eastern States, caused by the revival of the tourist traffic to Europe.

As far as Victoria is concerned, this decrease is almost offset by the increase in the railway passenger traffic from the prairie centres thoroughly covered by last year's advertising campaign, while the influx of motoring parties from the prairies and the Western States has shown a great increase in the number of heavy cars, partially offset by the drop in the number of light cars as compared with last year.

Commissioner Thomas believes that this year, with bountiful crops produced and marketed at a lower overhead cost, there will be no such handicap to tourist travel as existed last Winter, when many farmers who had made arrangements for a visit to the Coast cancelled their plans when the drop in wheat prices caused them to hold their grain.

"Had it not been for the strong advertising we did last year, it is a surety that there would not have been anything like the influx from the prairies we have had this year, and there would have been nothing to offset the absence of the Easterners who are this year flocking over to Europe," said Mr. Thomson.

SMUTS TAKES SHARE IN CAMPAIGNS

Speaks at South African By-election Meetings

London, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press Cable).—A Reuter dispatch from Cape Town says Premier Smuts of South Africa, who got to work the moment he landed, plunged last night into the by-elections in the Gardens and Lisbeek constituencies.

Numbers of unemployed labor leaders bombarded the Premier with questions to which General Smuts replied amid frequent cheers. He dealt with the world-wide financial question of depression and asked his hearers not to demand the impossible or universal panaceas, but to help him in his endeavors to secure the country's prosperity.

No Secession.

Replying to an interruption, the Premier said amid cheers he hoped secession had departed from South Africa forever.

He emphasized the fact that South Africa was in a favorable position compared with the rest of the world, and he announced that he would appeal in a few days on behalf of the starving children of Russia.

General Smuts concluded his speech with an appeal for industrial development to combat unemployment.

CATCH OF FISH SHOWS DECREASE

Canadian Figures for July Show Falling Off

Ottawa, Sept. 2.—(Canadian Press)—A large decrease in the total catch of sea fish on both coasts during July, as compared with the catch in July, 1920, is reported by the Department of Fisheries. The figures are 654 448 hundreweight, as against 904,461 hundredweights, with a value of $2,287,078, as against $4,374,659.

The total catch of cod, haddock, hake and pollock on the Atlantic coast during July was 85,758 hundredweights less than in July, 1920.

Scarcity of lobsters, together with the low price offered to fishermen, induced many of the latter to haul up their traps, thus causing a serious decline, which approximated 40,000 hundredweight.

British Columbia.

The halibut catch of British Columbia for the month was 32,637 hundredweight, as against 25,057 in July, 1920. Of the catch this July 15,756 hundreweight was taken by American fishermen.

During the season up to end of July 252,490 hundredweights of salmon was taken in British Columbia, against 413,449 hundredweights in July, 1920.

Ten fishermen were drowned while engaged in their work during July, eight in the Atlantic and two in the Pacific.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS WERE HONORED

Hall and MacTier at Luncheon in Sherbrooke

Poplar Representatives, London, Jailed; Unemployment Excitement

Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 2.—Every chair was occupied at a special luncheon given yesterday in the Administration Building on the Exhibition grounds with Messrs. Grant Hall and A. D. MacTier, vice-presidents of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as the guests of honor. The two were awarded a hearty welcome as President E. W. Farwell asked the gathering to toast their health.

While acknowledging his appreciation of the courteous invitation extended to him, Mr. Hall felt he was obliged to admit that he could not remember having been at any exhibition which could compare with the present Sherbrooke undertaking. In discussing actual conditions, Mr. Hall remarked that "it seems as though it will require all our strength and bravery to pull us through, but if we put our shoulder to the wheel it will be seen that conditions will improve as they have done in the past."

Railway Matters.

In touching upon railway matters, "which are of particular interest to manufacturers who are present, in as much as they are all shippers and customers, I might say that it has been brought to my attention several times lately that business is being sought upon the grounds that one railway represents a truly Canadian enterprise which is in competition with the Canadian Pacific Railway," said Mr. Hall. "In this connection I might state that forty years ago the Canadian Pacific Railway was started as part of a bargain made to bind the different provinces together. Certain subsidies and grants were made with which you are all familiar and the Canadian Pacific Railway was to be run in perpetuity under these circumstances. I look upon the Canadian Pacific Railway as a national undertaking. It is managed by Canadians; sixty-five per cent. of the stock is owned by Canadians, and it is headed by a bright Canadian who has attained the position by his very own efforts. The only justification for transportation business is the service given and we want to be judged and patronized on these grounds only. If we do not give the service we do not expect to get the business."

Mr. Hall closed with a tribute to Sherbrooke and the fine exhibition and he was given a very warm ovation as he resumed his seat.

Praised Exhibition.

Mr. MacTier confined himself to a few brief remarks dealing with the excellent administration which featured the operation of the local exhibition.

E. Page, representing the local branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, suggested that next year a special exhibition of goods manufactured exclusively in the Eastern Townships would no doubt be well received by the Association.

FARMERS STATE THEY ARE READY

Welcomed.

Winnipeg, Sept. 2. — Manitoba farmers will welcome the announcement of Premier Meighen concerning an early election, and they will welcome also the recognition of the fundamental issue in the contest, the fiscal policy," said W. R. Wood, secretary of the United Farmers of Manitoba.

"Ninety per cent. of them feel that the present Government in Canada has gone on far too long. Premier Meighen says protection has given prosperity to Canada, but the farmers, who have been receiving a cent a pound for their hides and paying $15 for boots, and the workmen who are idle in the cities during the Summer, have a different view. The fact that population in the rural districts has been declining in spite of the fact that agriculture is our basic industry indicates fundamental mismanagement of public policy," he declared.

Committee.

A provincial political committee will likely be called together soon to consult on the best means of conducting the campaign, Mr. Wood stated, but in all other matters the district boards will exercise local autonomy.

The United Farmers of Manitoba have already selected one candidate in J. L. Brown, of Pilot Mound, who was nominated recently for Lisgar constituency.

Interment was made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

MR. MEIGHEN MAY STAND IN WINNIPEG

May Be South Winnipeg Candidate, Says Rumor

Winnipeg, Sept. 2.—Perhaps the most interesting election gossip here this morning was that Premier Meighen would be asked to run in South Winnipeg. The Manitoba Free Press stated this afternoon, in which case he would be opposed by Hon. Robert Rogers. "The strength of the Farmer movement in the Portage la Prairie district, his home town, is so great that Mr. Meighen will no doubt seek a seat which can be captured more easily and give him ample opportunity to tour the country," the newspaper added.

"Mr. Rogers received a telegram asking if he would run in a Quebec seat, but he informed The Free Press that it was his intention of contesting a Western seat. He will leave for Montreal and Toronto Saturday night to confer with his followers there, it being understood by The Free Press that his visit to the East is to revive the Conservative Party.

NAVAL SQUADRON VISITS MONTREAL

Officers of Canadian Ships Honored at Banquet

Montreal, Sept. 2.—Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Naval Defence, last night gave a banquet in honor of Captain Adams and the officers of the Canadian naval squadron, now visiting Montreal.

Mr. Ballantyne said in the course of a speech that the Canadian navy preserved full autonomous rights in regard to expenditure and policy, while at the same time keeping in close touch with the British fleet and the Admiralty. He referred to the growth of the Canadian navy from its first start under the Laurier Government and hope was expressed that the country would support a naval development commensurate with the growth of Canada's foreign trade.

LIQUIDATION SETS IN NEAR CLOSE

(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.)

Chicago, Sept. 2.—The action of the market during the early part of to-day's session was highly encouraging to those entertaining bullish ideas, not only because the market advanced, but on account of the improvement in buying power. However, during the last hour of trading prices began to sag on reports that exporters were holding off temporarily for better prices, and closing figures were practically lows for the day.

FINANCIAL NEWS

RETAIL PRICES ARE BREAKING SLOWLY

Comparison Shows a 33½% Reduction

Although the retail market provides few changes in quotations to-day, a comparison of the list shows this year's prices, as compared with the prices quoted at this time last year, a 33⅓ per cent. reduction.

This third of a drop is registered only on the grocery department, including dairy products, vegetables and fruits, besides preserved stock such as canned salmon, beans and other commodities. Topping the list in reductions is the feed prices, which have dropped about fifty per cent off their prices of last year, and although there is no change whatever on the market to-day a further fall is expected any day.

Fish prices are about the same, with the exception of halibut, which is the only brand of fish to register any noticeable change for the better from last year's listings.

To-day's Quotations.

Fruit, fish, and with one change on the meat section, are the only variations to be marked to-day. Veal loin has dropped a notch, with a five-cent reduction, making the price 35c. Cod fillet is down to 15c., while small red salmon, whole fish, is being picked up at 12½c. All prices in the fruit section registered a reduction, dates, lemons, peaches and grapes being the products to secure them.

SHARP UPTURN IN STOCKS TO-DAY

(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.)

New York, Sept. 2.—While the opening prices were little changed from Thursday's close, some heavy short covering developed shortly after, which gained momentum as the session progressed, and caused advances running all the way from one to seven points in the speculative leaders. Baldwin Loco. was a feature, opening at 75⅛ and running up to 79, closing slightly off from the high. Other stocks which shared about evenly in the advance to-day included Mexican Petroleum, Studebaker, U. S. Steel, Tobacco Products, General Asphalt and International Harvester. The list of stocks commanding a premium in the loan crowd was the longest since the present bear market started two years ago. In the last quarter of an hour's trading some of the more timid longs were noticed to take their profits, probably due to the long week-end, as the New York Exchange will be closed to-morrow as well as Monday owing to Labor Day, and slight deviations were noticeable from the highs of the day.

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS

Winnipeg, Sept. 2.—Under a flood of offerings cash premiums on the local market broke to-day, and wheat changed hands at prices from seven to ten cents lower than yesterday. The demand was exceptionally light, and with boat contracts filled the market is getting back to normal again. No. 1 Northern was going at 11 cents over October, No. 2 4 cents over and No. 3 1 cent over.

The demand for cash oats and barley was poor, with premiums ½ cent lower. The flax and rye markets were unchanged.

Futures, as heavy hedging sales came into the pit, started on the decline and at the close were from 2¾ to 6 cents lower. The entire list of coarse grains showed losses. Oats closed 1⅛ to 2⅛ cents lower; barley 1⅞ to 2¼ cents lower; flax 3 to 3½ cents lower, and rye ⅝ to 1 cent lower.

Inspections of all grains totalled 527 cars, of which 359 were contract wheat.

SOME ECONOMIC MINERALS ON WEST COAST

Iron, Marble, Manganese and Alumite Are Described

The third and final instalment of the report of Dr. V. Dolmage on the economic geology of the West Coast from Clayoquot to Quatsino Sound, recently made to the Geological Survey, is as follows:

Iron

The sole deposit of magnetite which approaches commercial size in this district is situated about one mile up a creek flowing in Head Bay at the head of Tlupana Arm in Nootka Sound. Mr. W. M. Brewer, of the British Columbia Bureau of Mines, roughly estimates the tonnage of iron ore to be 250,000 tons known, 250,000 tons probable ore and 275,000 possible ore.

The deposit is located in a large body of garnetized limestone at the contact of a large intrusion of fine-grained diorite. Small amounts of copper are associated with the magnetite, but by far the greater portion of it is free from both copper and sulphur.

Marble

Marble is found in Nootka Sound, both in Deserted Creek and in Tasis Canal. In 1908 the Nootka Quarries Company, Limited, began the operation of a fully equipped quarry and mill, established on the northeast shore of Deserted Creek, but after operating for a year, during which $3,000 worth of marble was quarried, the plant was closed and still remains so.

At this point a mass of crystalline limestone, several thousand feet in thickness, outcrops along the shore for over a mile. It strikes in a northeast direction and can be seen to extend over the summit of a mountain about a mile or more eastward. It is coarsely crystalline, and varies from pure white through shades of blue and grey, to black. It is steeply folded, and in places is checked by a closely spaced set of compression joints. Here and there thin flows of andesite occur interbedded, and from these many small dykes and sills extend into the limestone in several directions. The quarry is situated at a point where the marble is cut by several such dykes and sills.

Though the attempt to produce marble from these beds on a commercial basis seems to have failed, the facts remain that there is an unlimited quantity of marble conveniently situated at tidewater, and that operations of the Nootka Quarries Company, Limited, proved that the marble can be quarried in sufficiently large blocks, and that it can be sawn, rubbed, turned and polished to produce an excellent stone for building and ornamental purposes.

The quarry and plant have been fully described by W. A. Parks and W. M. Brewer.

Manganese.

On Vargas Island, about two miles inland from the north shore, a deposit containing considerable manganese was recently discovered by Mr. Hovelaque, of Clayoquot. As yet only a small amount of work has been done, and the highest assays obtained showed not over 15 per cent. manganese, which is much too low to be considered of economic value.

The deposit occurs less than fifty feet above sea level, in a low, swampy area underlain by a band of cherty, ferruginous tuffs of the Vancouver group, which have been sheared and slickensided, and are strongly weathered to a depth of ten feet or more. The weather rocks contain much limonite, and some pyrolusite, which forms films on the shear planes.

The area, underlain by the sheared tuffs is quite extensive, and future work may disclose areas having sufficiently high proportions of manganese to enable it to be mined at a profit. The deposit is interesting because it is the first discovery of this metal on the west coast.

Alunite

A peculiar, light colored rock thought to contain the mineral alunite, was discovered on the narrow peninsula between Easy Creek and Kokshittle Arm, in Kyuquot Sound, in 1908. It was first staked as a possible gold deposit; later the British Columbia Pottery Company used the material for fire clay and for the manufacture of sewer pipe. In 1911 the San Juan Manufacturing Company used the material for making a powdered household cleanser and mechanical soap. Prior to 1914 it was being considered as a possible source of potash, and during the war when the scarcity of potash fertilizer became acute, the Kyuquot deposits again came into prominence.

In 1913 C. H. Clapp made a thorough investigation of the deposits, during which he found that they consisted largely of silica, pyrophyllite and natro-alunite (i.e., the soda-bearing alunite). In spite of this report, however, still further efforts were made to interest the public in these deposits as a source of potash fertilizer; and in order to settle the matter definitely the British Columbia Bureau of Mines sent W. M. Brewer and P. B. Freeland into the district in 1919 to sample the deposits as carefully as possible. The samples were later analyzed and checked by five different chemists.

The results showed that most of the material contained less than 2 per cent. water-soluble K_2O, and that the very best material obtained yielded, after a thorough grinding and roasting, only about 2.6 per cent. water-soluble K_2O. This, of course, is far below the limit required to make it a commercial possibility as a source of potash fertilizer. Whether the material from these deposits can be put to other uses remains to be seen.

REPATRIATE FRENCH SOLDIER'S FAMILY

Red Cross Still Carries On; Provided Drives for Patients

The monthly meeting of the Victoria and District Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society was held on Friday, August 26, at the rooms, Belmont House. The usual business was transacted and the work for the month reviewed.

A letter was read from the patients at the Station Hospital, Work Point Barracks, expressing their appreciation for the croquet set sent them by the Red Cross and also for the Daily Colonist which they receive every morning.

Through the efforts of this society a French family, Claude Berger and wife, who were in very straitened circumstances, have been repatriated to France. The Red Cross has looked after them for some months pending the necessary arrangements being made with the French Government, the man, although physically unfit, served with the Canadian forces during the war.

Very enjoyable drives have been provided for the soldier patients at the hospital twice a week and the following supplies have been sent to them: 21 suits underwear, 5 shirts, 8 pairs slippers, 26 suits pyjamas, 5 dressing gowns, 4 bed jackets, 20 pairs socks, 5 sweaters, razor blades, tooth brushes and paste, and many other comforts, also 25 pounds of wool for the men who have taken up knitting. New records have been sent for the Victor Victrola in the T. B. ward and also for the pianola in the recreation tent.

At the Red Cross workshop they are busy filling orders and preparing an exhibit for the Fall exhibition.

VETERANS INCENSED OVER MISSTATEMENT

The Veterans of France in session last night at their headquarters took strong exception to a statement reported to have been made by G. E. Scull, Langford, at the recent conference of farmers' organizations at the Parliament Buildings. Mr. Scull was reported to have said that "thousands of young men went away and into the army, where it takes six men to do one man's work—now they have come out of the army they don't want to do any work."

Comrade R. P. McLernan moved, seconded by Comrade T. Mooney, the following resolution, which was heartily approved: "That this meeting goes on record as protesting against the assertion made at a public gathering recently, that in the army it took six men to do one man's work; a statement made by a man who was never there to see; and we further regret the fact that there was a returned man present who apparently allowed the cowardly slander on the men who now lie in France to go unchallenged."

The meeting accepted the report of the organization committee and agreed to participation in the next mass meeting that would be called on amalgamation about September 15. Comrades R. MacNicol and C. K. Christian were selected to act for the Veterans of France at the proposed mass meeting.

The following resolution was carried: "If the mass meeting of ex-service organizations should be called before the next general meeting, that the Amalgamation Committee be empowered to make necessary arrangements, with other organizations, and also to pay their quota of the expenses incurred."

It was decided to hold the boxing tournament during Fair week at the Drill Hall by permission of the authorities.
